Replaces Editions 1 (December 2014), 2 (February 2014) and 3 (Product No. 940007)

This recommended practice addresses general principles for the safe installation and maintenance of offshore, geotechnically-relevant mooring systems on fixed or floating offshore platforms, offshore supply vessels, jack-up drilling rigs, semi-submersible drilling rigs and other types of mobile offshore drilling units (MODUs). This document also provides recommendations and best practices for personnel working on mooring, dynamic responses, and testing of mooring systems that are installed offshore.

These applications (see notes) that are not covered in the following:

- a) Offshore oil exploration and production applications. These vessels are typically supported on a fixed, geotechnically-relevant structure, mooring systems, structure, or ship-shaped lower hulls for drilling and production operations for offshore oilfields and storage.
- b) Offshore applications. Fixed lifting devices (rated for 20,000 lbs (9,072 kg) or more) are installed on surface-supply vessels and are used to move, hoist, or install structures, lifts, diving bells, systems, cables, components, and other materials on the vessel. System ratings are (in lbs) 100,000, 200,000, and 300,000.
- c) Floating applications. Cranes for mooring applications are installed on barges, self-unloading vessels or other vessels, and are used to install, adjust and manage moorings above and below the sea surface.

Equipment or a vessel, which is used only for mooring floating structures (the hulls or the deck) and not moored in the water by this recommended practice.

Lifting devices not covered by this document should be applied, installed and maintained in accordance with the manufacturer's recommendations.
