Glocalising Teaching English as an International Language Marcus Callies, Stefanie Hehner, Philipp Meer, Michael Westphal, 2021-12-19 The worldwide spread diversification and globalization of the English language in the course of the twentieth and early twenty first centuries has significant implications for English Language Teaching and teacher education We are currently witnessing a paradigm shift towards Teaching English as an International Language TEIL that aims to promote multilingualism and awareness of the diversity of Englishes increase exposure to this diversity embrace multiculturalism and foster cross cultural awareness Numerous initiatives that embrace TEIL can be observed around the world but ELT and teacher education in Germany and other European countries appear to be largely unaffected by this development with standard British and American English and the monolingual native speaker including the corresponding cultural norms still being very much at the center of attention The present volume addresses this gap and is the first of its kind to showcase recent initiatives that aim at introducing TEIL into ELT and teacher education in Germany but which have applicability and impact for other countries with comparable education systems and traditional ELT practices in the Expanding Circle The chapters in this book provide a balanced mix of conceptual empirical and practical studies and offer the perspectives of the many stakeholders involved in various settings of English language education whose voices have not often been heard i e students university lecturers trainee teachers teacher educators and in service teachers It therefore adds significantly to the limited amount of previous work on TEIL in Germany and bridges the gap between theory and practice that will not only be relevant for researchers educators and practitioners in English language education in Germany but other educational settings that are still unaffected by the shift towards TEIL

Language Acquisition in CLIL and Non-CLIL Settings Verena Möller, 2017-12-15 Language Acquisition in CLIL and Non-CLIL Settings builds a bridge between Second Language Acquisition and Learner Corpus Research LCR methodologies to take the evaluation of Content and Language Integrated Learning CLIL to a new level The study innovates in two main ways First it is based on a highly diversified L2 database which includes learner corpus data as well as experimental data from the same learners These linguistic components of the database are complemented with extensive information on learner variables including cognitive and affective factors which are rarely studied in LCR Second the study relies on multifactorial statistical analyses to assess the effectiveness of CLIL itself as well as the impact of the selectivity inherent in the CLIL system which has frequently been ignored The linguistic focus of the study is the English passive which is investigated in CLIL and non CLIL teaching materials and subsequently related to learner output

Inter- and Transcultural Learning in the Context of Canadian Young Adult Fiction Grit Alter,2015 Within the past few years transcultural learning has become one of the key terms in TEFL theory Central concerns in current research include differentiating between inter and transcultural learning navigating processes of understanding otherness and assessing cultural competences Using these aspects this study investigates texts recommended for cultural learning and key components of implementing literature in ELT The results call for a more holistic perception of alterity and argue in favour of transcultural literature as a basis for transcultural learning All of this dissertation is in English

Subjects Literary Criticism Education Series Fremdsprachendidaktik in globaler Perspektive Vol 5 Progressives, Patterns, Pedagogy Ute Römer,2005-08-18 This book presents a large scale corpus driven study of progressives in real English and school English combining an analysis of general linguistic interest with a pedagogically motivated one A systematic comparative analysis of more than 10 000 progressive forms taken from the largest existing corpora of spoken British English and from a small corpus of EFL textbook texts highlights numerous differences between actual language use and textbook language concerning the distribution of progressives their preferred contexts favoured functions and typical lexical grammatical patterns On the basis of these differences a number of pedagogical implications are derived the integration of which then leads to a first draft of an innovative concept of teaching progressives a concept which responds to three key criteria in pedagogical description typicality authenticity and communicative utility The analysis also demonstrates that many existing accounts of the progressive are inappropriate in several respects and that not enough attention is being paid to lexical grammatical relations Winner of the Wissenschaftspreis Hannover 2006 for outstanding research monographs

Reframing Global Poverty in Language Education Roger Dale Jones,2026-03-06 This open access book examines global poverty education in English as a Foreign Language EFL classrooms with particular focus on Germany as a case study Combining textbook analysis with teacher interviews it uncovers dominant narratives of poverty representation and education revealing moral and pedagogical framings that impact learning outcomes within the framework of Education for Sustainable Development and Global Citizenship Education Beginning with an overview of international and national policy frameworks such as the Sustainable Development Goals as well as of contemporary research and theory on Education for Sustainable Development in foreign language pedagogy the book explores how English language materials depict poverty through language imagery and intercultural narratives as well as what educational aims they target It problematizes these perspectives in light of contemporary research on the complex causes and solutions of global poverty revealing tensions between educational intentions and empirical realities Even well meaning materials it argues can reproduce stereotypes simplify global dynamics or promote paternalistic and misleading worldviews Drawing on insights and experiences of teachers the study highlights the ethical and emotional challenges of addressing such issues in the classroom and calls for pedagogies that engage learners critically and empathetically Finally it uncovers the subtle cognitive cultural and moral biases that shape how poverty is framed in education reflecting patterns that extend far beyond the classroom and carry implications for global understanding and responsibility Integrating insights from global poverty research foreign language didactics sustainability studies and critical pedagogy Reframing Global Poverty in Language Education offers practical guidance for educators researchers and policymakers committed to fostering reflective and globally aware learners
