Differentiated Literacy Instruction for English Language Learners Alice L. Quiocho,Sharon H. Ulanoff,2009 Differentiated Literacy Instruction for English Language Learners assists teachers in developing a multifaceted approach to successful instruction uniquely clarifying the critical role of culture and language in working with English language learners

Carefully crafted chapters guide literacy educators from initial assessment to the development of successful differentiated instruction. Drawing on their vast experience with teaching English Learners, Alice Quioco and Sharon Ulanoff offer teachers a myriad of practical strategies, lots of authentic teacher examples, and detailed lesson plans. They identify how to build English skills with English learners at every developmental level. In addition, the authors also feature a chapter detailing the steps necessary to reach English learners who have been identified for special education, a topic infrequently covered in other texts. The explicit lesson plans, field studies, and classroom vignettes crystallize the theories presented in this text. Teachers will find that Differentiated Literacy Instruction for English Language Learners promotes a personalized approach to English learning that will prove to be a vital tool for anyone hoping to maximize their students' potential. What reviewers say: "The authors know their field and they recognize and confirm teachers' abilities and expertise to enhance English language learners' content literacy development." Janet Richards, University of South Florida. "I think the authors do a wonderful job connecting theory to practice. The writers do an excellent job of writing a clear and interesting text." Debra Price, Sam Houston State University. "There is much value in the pedagogical features of this book. I have never seen such an extensive explanation of language acquisition and the different ways teachers can assess English learners. I think that it will be the best book on the market in this regard." Deanna Gilmore, Washington State University.

Curriculum Adaptations for Students with Learning and Behavior Problems, John J. Hoover, James R. Patton, 2005. This popular book in its third edition shows inclusive and special educators in elementary and special education how to adapt curricula for students with diverse needs. The contents of this updated and expanded edition reflect the most current and practical adaptation issues necessary to successfully differentiate curriculum and instruction for students with learning and behavior problems, including adapting curriculum for English language learners, ELLs with special needs, response to instruction and adaptations, NCLB standards-based education, and IEP development and implementation, and collaboration to differentiate instruction in inclusive settings. This book provides a process and specific techniques for selecting and implementing curricular adaptations for students who need accommodations in their programs. It was written for inclusive and special educators who face the daily challenges of implementing curriculum for students who require adaptations to differentiated learning in content strategies or management techniques.

The Foundations of Dual Language Instruction, Judith Lessow-Hurley, 2005. The Foundations of Dual Language Instruction, 4e is a practical text that examines the basic social, political, historical, and educational foundations of education for second language learners. New to this edition: New Organization. Chapters have been reordered, and the text now includes a new chapter on assessment. Chapter 5. This new chapter looks at assessment from a variety of perspectives, with particular reference to second language learners. Thoroughly updated on government policies and legislation. Chapter 9.
