

Data Structures Using C++

Unit I

Introduction

A data structure is a special way of organizing and storing data in a computer so that it can be used efficiently. Array, Linked List, Stack, Queue, Tree, Graph etc. are all data structures that stores the data in a special way so that we can access and use the data efficiently. Each of these mentioned data structures has a different special way of organizing data so we choose the data structure based on the requirement. So, data structure is a collection of data elements and its manipulation functions.

Classification of data structures

Data structure is basically classified into two categories-

- Primitive Data type
- Non-primitive data type

But often Data structures in C++ are classified by their characteristics of storing data. Possible characteristics are:

1-Linear or non-linear: This characteristic describes whether the data items are arranged in ordered sequence, such as with an array, or in an unordered sequence, such as with a graph.

2-Homogeneous or non-homogeneous: This characteristic describes whether all data items in a given repository are of the same data type or of various types. for example- An array has similar data type stored contiguously but a Structure has collection of different data types.
