ABSTRACT

The aim of this study is to formulate and significantly improve the bioavailability and reduce the side effects of immediate release tablets Capecitabine. The precompression blends of Capecitabine were characterized with respect to angle of repose, bulk density, tapped density, Carr's index and Hausner's ratio. The precompression blend of all the batches indicates good to fair flowability and compressibility. Immediate release tablets were prepared with various disintegrants like PEG 6000, Croscarmellose sodium and Sodium-starch glycolate at different concentration ratios and were compressed into tablets. The formulated tablets were evaluated for various quality control parameters. The tablets were passed all tests. Among all the formulations F7 formulation containing, drug and Croscarmellose sodium showed good result that is 98.12 % in 45 min. Hence from the dissolution data it was evident that F7 formulation is the better formulation.

KEYWORDS: Capecitabine, PEG 6000, Croscarmellose sodium and Sodium-starch glycolate, Immediate release Development

INTRODUCTION:

Oral route is the most convenient and extensively used for drug administration. Oral administration is the most popular route for systemic effects due to its ease of ingestion, pain avoidance, versatility and most importantly, patient compliance suitable for industrial production, improved stability and bioavailability. The concept of immediate release tablets emerged from the desire to provide patient with more conventional means of taking their medication when emergency treatment is required. Recently, immediate release tablets have gained prominence of being new drug delivery systems. The oral route of administration has so far received the maximum attention with respect to research on physiological and drug constraints as well as design and testing of product. Drug delivery systems (DDS) are a strategic tool for expanding markets/indications, extending product life cycles and generating opportunities. Most immediate release tablets are intended to disintegrate in the stomach, where the pH is acidic. Several orally disintegrating tablet (ODT) technologies based on direct compression. In pharmaceutical formulation includes any formulation in which the rate of release of drug from the formulation is at least 70% (preferably 80%) of active ingredient within 4 hours, such as within 3 hours, preferably 2 hours, more preferably within 1.5 hours, and especially within an hour (such as within 30 minutes) of administration. In Formulation of immediate release the commonly Superdisintegrants used are Croscarmellose, sodium, Sodium Starch glycolate and Crospovidone.¹

Oral route of administration is the most popular route for systemic effects due to its ease of ingestion, pain avoidance, versatility and most importantly, patient compliance. Also solid oral delivery systems does not need sterile conditions and are therefore, less expensive to manufacture. Patient compliance, high precision dosing, and manufacturing efficiency make tablets the solid dosage form of choice. There is
