Abstract

Enterprise is an important element of government strategy to increase productivity and support the creation and maintenance of a healthy economic climate. Whilst there has been lively debate about best ways of embedding entrepreneurship into the engineering curriculum, so far no definitive approach has emerged.

Conscious of the importance of the enterprise agenda in higher education, the Department of Mechanical Engineering at Sheffield University aims to remain at the forefront of the competition by meeting customer expectations and fulfilling their needs. We have therefore made a concerted effort to increase students' entrepreneurial and intrapreneurial potential over the past three years. Consequently, several modules and degree programmes have been created specifically to meet these needs.

This case study presents two modules as representative examples of how mechanical engineers are gaining an insight into the entrepreneurial world.

Background and key features of the modules

1 Enterprise and Technology

Module size	Single
Open / restricted	Restricted
Core/Option	Core
Availability on/off campus	On campus
Total student study hours	100
Number of weeks	10 weeks

This module was designed with the main objective of encouraging first year students to think of themselves as potential entrepreneurs, not to be afraid of the word 'enterprise', and to think of enterprise as a route to commercialise their engineering skills. Additionally, the module was developed in a rather unconventional way, whereby students would receive the knowledge through quotes and analogies and then reflect on the knowledge acquired through group dynamics.

2 Business Planning

Module size	Single
Open / restricted	Restricted
Core/Option	Option
Availability on/off campus	On campus
Total student study hours	100
Number of weeks	10 weeks

This highly innovative business planning module uses a "reality teaching and learning" approach. Students are given a real commercial problem provided by real customers. They are asked to apply their engineering knowledge to solve the problem and write a financially and commercially viable business plan for it. They receive just 10% to 15% traditional lecturing. The remainder is based on case studies and workshops, and presentations from relevant speakers such as bankers, customers, intellectual property consultants and real
