Hui, 2012-01-11 Retitled to reflect expansion of coverage from the first edition Handbook of Meat and Meat Processing Second Edition contains a complete update of materials and nearly twice the number of chapters Divided into seven parts the book covers the entire range of issues related to meat and meat processing from nutrients to techniques for preservation

Meat Processing, 1987 The Complete Book on Meat Processing And Preservation with Packaging Technology NIIR Board of Consultants & Engineers, 2005-10-01 Meat was originally processed to preserve it but since the various procedures cause so many changes in texture and flavour it is also a means of adding variety to the diet Processing also provides scope to mix the less desirable parts of the carcass with lean meat and in addition is a means of extending meat supplies by including other foodstuffs such as cereal in the product Food preservation is a method of maintaining foods at a desired level of properties or nature for their maximum benefits Preservation usually involves preventing the growth of bacteria yeasts fungi and other micro organisms although some methods work by introducing bacteria or fungi to the food as well as retarding the oxidation of fats which cause rancidity Today meat is processed with salt colour fixing ingredients and seasonings in order to impart desired palatability traits to intact and comminuted meat products Products intermediate to these categories are sectioned or chunked and formed meats There are various methods for the preservation of meat curing dry curing smoking canning freezing dehydration fat extraction wet or steam rendering etc Meat curing agents include sodium chloride nitrite ascorbate or erythorbate and possibly sodium phosphate sucrose dextrose or corn syrup and seasonings The salt content of processed meats varies 1 to 12% according to the type of product Many intact and comminuted cured meat products are smoked to impart a desirable smoked flavour and colour The smoking process many also include a drying or cooking cycle depending on the product Canned meats may be processed to be commercially sterile or semi preserved The objective of commercial sterilization is to destroy all harmful bacteria or bacteria that may cause spoilage of the product under normal unrefrigerated storage However the process does not kill the spores of all heat resistant bacteria Frozen meat can be kept at low temperatures for many months Freezing and subsequent thawing produce changes in the structure of meat that affect its physical properties If meat is frozen very rapidly at low temperatures the ice crystals are small and form within the fibers The drip loss upon thawing is generally greater in slow frozen than in quick frozen meat Freeze drying meat extends shelf life and reduces weight The meat is readily defrosted by immersing in water before cooking Under optimum processing and storage conditions reconstituted meats have acceptable flavour colour texture and nutrient retention The meat packing industry handles the slaughtering processing packaging and distribution of animals such as cattle pigs sheep and other livestock The Advances in Meat Processing Technologies: Modern Approaches to Meet Consumer Demand Daneysa L. Kalschne, Marinês P. Corso, Cristiane Canan, 2020-08-31 Meat and meat based products play an important role as foods in the diets of people around the world. However, environmental and social issues have posed a challenge to meat production processing plants with the advent of more consumer conscious production values across the food processing industry and a changing attitude among some communities towards the consumption of products from animal origin. The development of meat science and technology has brought solutions that allow the consumption of meat in a greater proportion from the source. Traditional processes such as salting, smoking, and fermentation have been refined, and more recently, processes such as emulsification, marinating, and tenderizing of meat have further diversified meat products. Meat processing technology is also required to meet consumer expectations and demands for nutritious and safe food. Consumer requirements have pushed for need for adaptation and modernization of slaughterhouses as well as the use of more suitable processing technologies for saving water, energy, and reducing waste production, all while trying to provide a high level of nutritional, sensory, and food safety for consumers. Advances in Meat Processing Technologies aims to inform students, researchers, lecturers, and others who are interested in the subject about new meat and meat based product processing technologies. The handbook covers a variety of meat processing technologies including dry fermentation, meat emulsification, curing, marinating, restructuring, and processing of non-emulsified meat and meat analogues. Additional chapters cover the use of additives and ultrasound technology in meat processing as well as different strategies suitable for meat processing operations. The simple, topical presentation of the book, which covers a wide variety of products, makes the book a key reference for informing students, researchers, lecturers, professionals, and general readers who are interested in the subject of meat processing technology.

Advances in Meat Processing Technology Alaa El-Din A. Bekhit, 2017-09-29 Meat is a unique biological material with a central importance in nutrition and health. Advances in Meat Processing Technology merges the expertise of meat scientists and food engineers in a holistic approach toward the processing of meat. The meat industry strives to deliver consistent, high quality and safe meat products. Readers can benefit from knowledge generated by meat science researchers by achieving a greater understanding of the nature of meat and the engineering technology required for meat processing. This book comprises 17 full chapters that provide up-to-date and fundamental information on current topics in meat processing. This includes novel technologies such as the application of pulsed electric field, meat stretching and shaping, ultrasound, and high pressure. In addition, analytical techniques such as Raman spectroscopy and NMR are enabling considerable advancement of knowledge in meat science and in meat processing. Written by world-renowned experts in their fields, this contemporary collective work assembles the state of current knowledge that is of importance to both industry and academia. Blueprint Meat is both a major food in its own right and a staple ingredient in many food products. With its distinguished editors and an international team of contributors, Meat Processing reviews research on what defines and determines meat quality and how it can be maintained or improved during processing. Part one considers the various aspects of meat quality. There are chapters on what determines the quality of raw meat, changing views of the nutritional quality of meat and the factors determining such quality attributes as colour and flavour. Part two discusses how these aspects of quality are measured, beginning with the identification of appropriate quality indicators. It also includes chapters on both sensory analysis and instrumental methods, including on-line monitoring and microbiological analysis. Part three reviews the range of processing techniques that have been deployed at various stages in the supply chain. Chapters include the use of modelling techniques to improve quality and productivity in beef cattle production, new decontamination techniques after slaughter, automation of carcass processing, high pressure processing of meat, developments in modified atmosphere packaging and chilling and freezing. There are also chapters on particular products such as restructured meat and fermented meat products. With its detailed and comprehensive coverage of what defines and determines meat quality, Meat Processing is a standard reference for all those involved in the meat industry and meat research. Reviews research on what defines and determines meat quality and how it can be measured, maintained and improved during processing. Examines the range of processing techniques that have been deployed at various stages in the supply chain. Comprehensively outlines the new decontamination techniques after slaughter and automation of carcass processing.

Handbook of Meat Processing Fidel Toldrá, 2010-01-21 This handbook comprehensively presents the current status of the manufacturing of the most important meat products. Editor and renowned meat expert Fidel Toldrá heads an international collection of meat scientists who have contributed to this essential reference book. Coverage is divided into three parts. Part one, Technologies, begins with discussions on meat chemistry, biochemistry and quality and then provides background information on main technologies involved in the processing of meat such as freezing, cooking, smoking, fermentation, emulsification, drying and curing. Also included are key chapters on packaging, spoilage prevention and plant cleaning and sanitation. Part two, Products, is focused on the description of the manufacture of the most important products including cooked and dry-cured hams, cooked and fermented sausages, bacon, canned meat, pat, restructured meats and functional meat products. Each chapter addresses raw materials, ingredients and additives, processing technology, main types of products, production data, particular characteristics and sensory aspects and future trends. Part three, Controls, offers current approaches for the control of the quality and safety of manufactured meat products with coverage including sensory evaluation, chemical and biological hazards including GMOs, HACCP and quality assurance. This book is an invaluable resource for all meat scientists, meat processors, R & D professionals and product developers. Key features: Unparalleled international expertise of editor and contributing authors. Addresses the state of the art of manufacturing the most important

Nollet,Fidel Toldra,2006-03-21 In recent years the meat industry has incorporated important technological advances that to this point have not been addressed in a single source Comprehensive and authoritative Advanced Technologies for Meat Processing presents developments concerning the quality analysis and processing of meat and meat products Co Edited by Fidel Toldra Recipient of the 2010 Distinguished Research Award from the American Meat Science Association Featuring contributions from a panel of international experts the book details technologies used in the meat processing chain It describes important processing methodologies such as gene technology automation irradiation hot boning high pressure vacuum salting enzymes starters and bacteriocins The book begins by exploring various production systems that include the use of modern biotechnology automation in slaughterhouses and rapid non destructive on line detection systems It proceeds to describe different new technologies such as decontamination high pressure processing and fat reduction The book then examines functional meat compounds such as peptides and antioxidants and the processing of nitrate free products and dry cured meat products It also discusses bacteriocins that fight against meat borne pathogens and the latest developments in bacterial starters for improved flavor in fermented meats It concludes with a discussion of packaging systems of the final products Meat and Meat Processing Derrick B. McCarthy,2017 Meat products occupy quite an exceptional position in the preferences of the consumers and the interest of food industry since they provide human organism with high quality proteins vitamins and minerals At the same time a constant challenge is faced by the health sector around the world to uncover the causes associated with the etiology of several diseases Much attention has therefore been paid to develop meat products with physiological functions that promote human health which is discussed in Chapter One In Chapter Two the authors describe how understanding and monitoring the oxidation processes is essential for the development of technological strategies to improve the meat industry Chapter Three presents the latest achievements in the production of dry cured meat products as well as updated scientific and technological information on the safety quality and nutritional properties of this group of meat products Chapter Four presents an overview of the main sample preparation methods and analytical techniques applied for trace element determination in meat samples Chapter Five describes what is known about the effects of the use of electrical stimulation of carcasses of meat animals including the effects on meat tenderness and meat sensorial characteristics Chapter Six covers the quality of donkey carcass and donkey meat quality parameters showing its chemical and sensorial characteristics when possible in different muscles and evaluating the effects of the age of slaughtering Finally in Chapter Seven the authors present both the benefits and risks of nitrites and nitrates as well as the possibilities of using acid whey as an alternative to nitrites nitrates in meat products
