Water Reuse Chris Binnie, Martin Kimber, 2008-05-14 Water Reuse An International Survey of current practice issues and needs examines water reuse practices around the world from different perspectives The objective is to show how differently wastewater reuse is conceived and practised around the world as well as to present the varied needs and possibilities for reusing wastewater In the first section water reuse practices around the world are described for regions having common water availability reuse needs and social aspects The second section refers to the stakeholders point of view Each reuse purpose demands different water quality not only to protect health and the environment but also to fulfil the requirements of the specific reuse Reuses considered are agricultural urban agriculture as a special case of the former municipal and industrial Alongside these uses the indirect reuse for human consumption through aquifer recharge is also discussed The third section deals with emerging and controversial topics Ethical and economical dilemmas in the field are presented as a subject not frequently addressed in this field The role of governments in respect of public policy in reuse is discussed as well as the different international criteria and standards for reusing wastewater The importance of public acceptance and the way to properly handle it is also considered The fourth section of the book presents contrasting case studies typical situations in the developed world Japan and Germany are compared to those in developing countries Pakistan and Brazil for agricultural and industrial reuse Indirect planned reuse for human consumption Germany is compared with an unplanned one Mexico The Windhoek Namibia case study is presented to emphasize why if the direct reuse of wastewater for human consumption has been performed with success for more than 35 years it is still the only example of this type around the world To illustrate the difficulties of having a common framework for regulating water reuse in several countries the Mediterranean situation is described Other case studies presented refer to the reuse situation in Israel Spain Cameroon Nepal and Vietnam these latter countries being located in water rich areas This book will be an invaluable information source for all those concerned with water reuse including water utility managers wastewater policy makers and water resources planners as well as researchers and students in environmental engineering water resources planning and sanitary engineering Scientific and Technical Report No 20

Critical-Care Nurses' Perceived Leadership Practices, Organizational Commitment, and Job Satisfaction Ngozi I. Moneke, 2016-12-28 My writing of this book has evolved over the past thirty six years of professional nursing practice These were my first efforts as an author which were published in 2013 Promoting a Culture of Safety Preventing Central Line Infections in Weill Cornell Medical Center which used a performance improvement process to lower the rate at which critically ill patients in cardiac care developed central line infections and Factors Influencing Critical Nurses Perception of their Overall Job Satisfaction An Empirical Study which used a correctional approach and was statistically analyzed to determine the perception of critical care nurses of their manager s leadership style and its effect on their job satisfaction Having been on the receiving end of leadership behaviors gave me a firsthand opportunity to observe these diverse nurse leaders at both extremes of the spectrum from laissez faire leadership style to dictatorial leadership style and everything in between Each encounter has enriched my life immeasurably My personal and professional experiences as well as the knowledge I gained from completing my dissertation all compelled me to write this book to share with novice managers and those aspiring for a leadership role an awareness and provide them with some valuable information needed as they forge their career paths into a leadership role knowing that one of the keys to effective leadership is the ability to stay intellectually curious and committed to learning with the understanding that new knowledge can come from variety of sources and to make it a point of duty to be always on a lookout for new knowledge

Judgment in Managerial Decision Making Max H. Bazerman, Don A. Moore, 2009 Decision making plays a crucial role in managerial life But too often our decisions are clouded by personal biases and uncertainty This book shows readers how to identify their own biases in order to make better decisions
