John Clark Bergstrom, Kevin J. Boyle, Gregory L. Poe, 2001 Transition Report 2001 European Bank for Reconstruction and Development, 2001 This report focuses upon aspects of energy production consumption and efficiency within the transition economies of the countries in central eastern Europe and the Baltic states south eastern Europe and the Commonwealth of Independent States The report is divided into two sections Part I considers issues of macroeconomic performance and future prospects for growth Part II contains an analysis of the primary and secondary energy sectors in these countries The report highlights the challenges facing the energy rich countries in managing their resources prudently It discusses key policy issues such as the need to strengthen governance and transparency in the energy sector and to increase savings to preserve national wealth for future generations It also looks at tariff reform as a means of improving energy efficiency and examines ways of ensuring that the poor do not suffer as a result of tariff adjustments It highlights the complementary role that private investment in the power sector can play in improving energy efficiency if accompanied by a strong regulatory framework The report also contains an assessment of the progress towards transition made by each country on a range of areas including liberalisation and macroeconomic stabilisation Economics Roger A. Arnold, 2001 An Economic Model of the
