Closed circuit trickle irrigation is a form of micro irrigation that increases energy and water efficiency by using closed circuit drip irrigation systems designs Modifications are made to traditional micro irrigation methods to reduce some of the problems and constraints such as low compressor water at the end of irrigation lines This approach has proved successful for the irrigation of fruit trees and some vegetable and field crops Closed circuits of drip irrigation systems require about half of the water needed by sprinkler or surface irrigation Lower operating pressures and flow rates result in reduced energy costs and a higher degree of water control is attainable as well Plants can be supplied with more precise amounts of water and disease and insect damage is reduced because plant foliage stays dry Fertilizers can also be applied through this type of system which can result in a reduction of fertilizer and fertilizer costs This new volume in the Research Advances in Sustainable Micro Irrigation book series presents a diverse collection of research on closed circuit irrigational technology and design and provides studies of its use on such crops as wheat maize yellow corn soybeans rice and snap peas The book explores Soil moisture and salinity distributions under modified sprinkler irrigation Performance of sprinkler irrigation Design considerations for closed circuit drip irrigation systems Performance of bubbler irrigation Energy and water savings of drip irrigation systems Automation of mini sprinkler and drip irrigation systems Water and fertilizer use efficiencies for drip irrigated maize Evaluation of emitter clogging for drip irrigated systems This book will be valuable for those interested in irrigation planning and management namely researchers scientists educators upper level students agricultural extension services and others
