Asymptotic Methods In Statistical Decision Theory:

Asymptotic Methods in Statistical Decision Theory Lucien Le Cam, 2012-12-06 This book grew out of lectures delivered at the University of California Berkeley over many years The subject is a part of asymptotics in statistics organized around a few central ideas The presentation proceeds from the general to the particular since this seemed the best way to emphasize the basic concepts The reader is expected to have been exposed to statistical thinking and methodology as expounded for instance in the book by H Cramer 1946 or the more recent text by P Bickel and K Doksum 1977 Another possibility closer to the present in spirit is Ferguson 1967 Otherwise the reader is expected to possess some mathematical maturity but not really a great deal of detailed mathematical knowledge Very few mathematical objects are used their assumed properties are simple the results are almost always immediate consequences of the definitions Some objects such as vector lattices may not have been included in the standard background of a student of statistics For these we have provided a summary of relevant facts in the Appendix The basic structures in the whole affair are systems that Blackwell called experiments and transitions between them An experiment is a mathematical abstraction intended to describe the basic features of an observational process if that process is contemplated in advance of its implementation Typically an experiment consists of a set E of theories about what may happen in the observational process

Statistical Decision Theory and Related Topics V Shanti S. Gupta, James O. Berger, 2012-12-06 The Fifth Purdue International Symposium on Statistical Decision Theory and Related Topics was held at Purdue University during the period of June 14-19, 1992 The symposium brought together many prominent leaders and younger researchers in statistical decision theory and related areas The format of the Fifth Symposium was different from the previous symposia in that in addition to the 54 invited papers there were 81 papers presented in contributed paper sessions Of the 54 invited papers presented at the symposium 42 are collected in this volume The papers are grouped into a total of six parts Part 1 Retrospective on Wald's Decision Theory and Sequential Analysis Part 2 Asymptotics and Nonparametrics Part 3 Bayesian Analysis Part 4 Decision Theory and Selection Procedures Part 5 Probability and Probabilistic Structures and Part 6 Sequential Adaptive and Filtering Problems While many of the papers in the volume give the latest theoretical developments in these areas a large number are either applied or creative review papers

Mathematical Statistics Johann Pfanzagl,2017-10-23 This book presents a detailed description of the development of statistical theory In the mid twentieth century the development of mathematical statistics underwent an enduring change due to the advent of more refined mathematical tools New concepts like sufficiency superefficiency adaptivity etc motivated scholars to reflect upon the interpretation of mathematical concepts in terms of their real world relevance Questions concerning the optimality of estimators for instance had remained unanswered for decades because a meaningful concept of optimality based on the regularity of the estimators the representation of their limit distribution and assertions about their concentration by means of Anderson s Theorem was not yet available The rapidly developing asymptotic theory provided approximate answers to questions for which non asymptotic theory had found no satisfying solutions In four engaging essays this book presents a detailed description of how the use of mathematical methods stimulated the development of a statistical theory Primarily focused on methodology questionable proofs and neglected questions of priority the book offers an intriguing resource for researchers in theoretical statistics and can also serve as a textbook for advanced courses in statistic

Signal Processing in Radar Systems Vyacheslav Tuzlukov,2017-12-19 An essential task in radar systems is to find an appropriate solution to the problems related to robust signal processing and the definition of signal parameters Signal Processing in Radar Systems addresses robust signal processing problems in complex radar systems and digital signal processing subsystems It also tackles the important issue of defining signal parameters The book presents problems related to traditional methods of synthesis and analysis of the main digital signal processing operations It also examines problems related to modern methods of robust signal processing in noise with a focus on the generalized approach to signal processing in noise under coherent filtering In addition the book puts forth a new problem statement and new methods to solve problems of adaptation and control by functioning processes Taking a systems approach to designing complex radar systems it offers readers guidance in solving optimization problems Organized into three parts the book first discusses the main design principles of the modern robust digital signal processing algorithms used in complex radar systems The second part covers the main principles of computer system design for these algorithms and provides real world examples of systems The third part deals with experimental measurements of the main statistical parameters of stochastic processes It also defines their estimations for robust signal processing in complex radar systems Written by an internationally recognized professor and expert in signal processing this book summarizes investigations carried out over the past 30 years It supplies practitioners researchers and students with general principles for designing the robust digital signal processing algorithms employed by complex radar systems
