 - Machine Learning is a subsystem of Artificial Intelligence, wherein computers have the ability to learn from data using statistical techniques, without being explicitly programmed by a human being. It comprises algorithms that use data to learn on their own and make predictions. These algorithms, called models, are first trained and tested using training data and testing data, respectively. After successive training, once these models are able to give results to an acceptable level of accuracy, they are used to make predictions about new and unknown data.

They are being used in many fields, such as journalism, filming and aerial photography, shipping or delivery at short distances, disaster management, search and rescue operations, healthcare, geographic mapping and structural safety inspections, agriculture, wildlife monitoring or poaching, besides law-enforcement and border patrolling.
