Allyn and Bacon Quick Guide to the Internet for Child Development Sharon Milburn, Doug Gotthoffer, 2000

Self-science Karen Stone-McCown, Joshua M. Freedman, Anabel L. Jensen, Marsha C. Rideout, 1998 Self Science is a curriculum and a process for teaching social and emotional skills It is a flexible framework where students do activities or experiments that lead to discussion and learning The students own experiences concerns and questions drive the content so the process works with people from all kinds of backgrounds all ages and all levels Self Science fuses cognitive and affective learning students build feeling and thinking skills at the same time Rather than telling children what not to do Self Science provides multiple options of what to do It helps children become more aware of themselves and make more conscious decisions about the ways they think feel and act independently and interdependently Nationally and internationally parents and teachers are increasingly concerned about school culture and emotional intelligence competencies Issues of exclusion violence depression and under achievement are all addressed within this preventative comprehensive program Self Science so named because emotional intelligence grows from the study of ourselves and our relationships is one of the few comprehensive developmental and research based curricula for creating a school wide culture of emotional intelligence The Self Science program creates a fundamental shift in the structure of the school toward collaboration inclusion and humanism Part of the power of Self Science is its flexibility Once a facilitator understands how a lesson flows she or he can easily adapt any current topics other exercises and even academic subject matter into the lessons In addition Self Science can be taught as a stand alone class or folded into existing programs such as class meetings advisory life skills or community service The Business of Child Care 5e Karen Kearns,2021-08-05 This text has been substantially revised to include a broader range of knowledge and practice necessary for the challenging role of leading and managing children s education and care services The provision of quality early childhood education and care requires knowledgeable leaders and managers who possess a range of twenty first century workplace skills necessary to guide the organisation through a process of continuous improvement to meet the increasing demands of service delivery To address learning needs this text now includes knowledge related not only to the Children s Services training package but also to the Business Services training package In particular knowledge content related to a number of competencies from the Diploma of Leadership and Management has been added In practical terms The Business of Child Care can be used as a textbook for students completing their initial children s services diploma training and for experienced educators seeking to develop leadership and management skills by undertaking a Diploma of Leadership and Management Additional content includes emotional intelligence risk management as a continuous improvement tool workplace wellbeing the need for which became very evident with the stress of the pandemic critical thinking skills essential for evaluating service delivery and engaging in self reflection Communication has been closely examined so that having difficult conversations influencing and persuading others supporting conflict resolution and guiding meetings to ensure that all team members are supported to have a voice in the organisation are addressed Premium online teaching and learning tools are available on the MindTap platform Learn more about the online tools cengage.com/au/mindtap
