Afrikaans 2013 Paper 3:

Nelson Mandela Crain Soudien, 2017-03-22 The death of Nelson Mandela the great South African fighter for freedom in December 2013 prompted several colleagues within the World Council of Comparative Education Societies community to come together to think about the significance of his life and his work for education This book is the result of that coming together The contributing authors reflect on what his life the commitments he made and principally the values he took into the struggle for freedom in South Africa mean for education The point of departure for the book is that of honouring the man It begins with the argument that the values for which he stood namely the unconditional dignity of all human beings respect for difference and principally his lifelong commitment to justice have a special significance for how we as inhabitants of an increasingly connected and interdependent world conduct our personal lives our relationships with one another and with the material and living space which surrounds us It is an ecological approach As the world moves into a twenty first century where paradoxically we know so much and yet appear to understand so little and so find ourselves struggling to create social lives in which all of us can feel respected can offer respect to others and live lives free of fear and anxiety the values for which he stood have specific relevance for how we do the important job of teaching and what we put into it Mandela poses deeply provocative questions about the kinds of lives we seek for ourselves and for everybody else around us

Harmonies Armelle Gaulier, Denis-Constant Martin, 2017-07-19 Cape Town's public cultures can only be fully appreciated through recognition of its deep and diverse soundscape We have to listen to what has made and makes a city The ear is an integral part of the research tools one needs to get a sense of any city We have to listen to the sounds that made and make the expansive mother city Various of its constituent parts sound different from each other There is the sound of the singing men and their choirs teams they are called in preparation for the longstanding annual Malay choral competitions The lyrics from the various repertoires they perform are hardly ever written down There are texts of the hallowed Dutch songs but these do not circulate easily and widely Researchers dream of finding lyrics from decades ago not to mention a few generations ago back to the early 19th century This work by Denis Constant Martin and Armelle Gaulier provides us with a very useful selection of these songs More than that it is a critical sociological reflection of the place of these songs and their performers in the context that have given rise to them and sustains their relevance It is a necessary work and is a very important scholarly intervention about a rather neglected aspect of the history and present production of music in the city
