Headland-bay Beaches: Static Equilibrium Concept For Shoreline Management

Rong-chung John Hsu, Jung Lyul Lee, Antonio Henrique Da Fontoura Klein, Mauricio Gonzalez, Raul Medina, 2021-06-22 Headland bay beaches HBBs are ubiquitous in coastal environment They exist around the world naturally or artificially as byproduct of engineering project Though in various shapes sizes and stability a HBB in static equilibrium not only is a delight for visitors but also offers hope for better beach protection restoration recreation and shoreline management With an empirical parabolic model now available the stability of an existing HBB can be verified the future bay shape downdrift of a harbor can be predefined and a stable HBB can be designed Although a plethora of books are available for coastal and ocean engineering and geomorphology only a countable few have covered engineering applications of HBBs On the contrary this book with focus on the HBBs in static equilibrium aims to offer a comprehensive volume with knowledge and applications for coastal scientists engineers managers students and the general public interested in HBBs Useful software tools for HBBs MEPBAY MeePaSoL and SMC are introduced in the book to aid in applications The authors have set out to make this book the first unique publication on HBBs by bringing together the old coastal geomorphic knowledge and new concepts for static bay beaches This book also provides numerous examples using the static bay beach concept to assist coastal scientists and engineers on planning and pre design of a stable HBB and for experimentalists consultants and numerical modelers to alleviate the burden of comparing planning options and conducting laborious physical experiments on coastal sedimentation

Sorensen, 2006-03-28 The second edition 1997 of this text was a completely rewritten version of the original text Basic Coastal Engineering published in 1978 This third edition makes several corrections improvements and additions to the second edition Basic Coastal Engineering is an introductory text on wave mechanics and coastal processes along with fundamentals that underline the practice of coastal engineering This book was written for a senior or first postgraduate course in coastal engineering It is also suitable for self study by anyone having a basic engineering or physical science background The level of coverage does not require a math or fluid mechanics background beyond that presented in a typical undergraduate civil or mechanical engineering curriculum The material presented in this text is based on the author's lecture notes from a one semester course at Virginia Polytechnic Institute Texas A M University and George Washington University and a senior elective course at Lehigh University The text contains examples to demonstrate the various analysis techniques that are presented and each chapter except the first and last has a collection of problems for the reader to solve that further demonstrate and expand upon the text material Chapter 1 briefly describes the coastal environment and introduces the relatively new field of coastal engineering Chapter 2 describes the two dimensional characteristics of surface waves and presents the small amplitude wave theory to support this description Mathematical Models in Coastal Engineering Christopher G. Koutitas, 1988 The book provides a basic methodology for the formulation and numerical solution of mathematical models in coastal engineering First the mathematical theory of waves is considered the coastal circulation due to various generating factors such as tide wind density variation and waves finally pollutant advective diffusion and sediment transport in the surf zone and wider coastal domain The book contains numerous illustrative worked examples with the corresponding computer listings in BASIC The book will enable engineering consultants researchers and postgraduate students in coastal engineering and oceanography to apply the sophisticated techniques used in major coastal engineering works to small scale design using microcomputers
