

Media/Channels of Business Communication

■ Formal and Informal Communication Network

Communication is a two-way process of connecting people and reaching mutual understanding, in which contributors not only exchange (encode-decode) information, news, ideas and feelings but also generate and share their meaning. In business, it is a key function of management. An organisation cannot function without communication between different levels, departments and employees.

Every communication, either in personal life or in business, has certain goals to fulfill. It is giving, receiving or exchanging ideas, information, signals or messages through appropriate media, that enables individuals or groups to convince, to seek information, to give information or to express sentiments. The messages can pass through Internal and external structure.

1. Internal communication: When the exchange of ideas, information, signals or messages occur within an organisation through phone, emails, notices or circulars etc., the communication is called Internal communication.
2. External communication: Exchange of ideas, information, signals or messages into or out of the organisation with customers, distributors, competitors, investors, community representatives is called external communication.

On the basis of an organisational structure, the messages flow in two ways or channels in an organisation to achieve goals:

1. Formal communication
2. Informal communication

1. Formal communication

Formal communication is a communication system that occurs in a formal way to achieve the organisational objective. Formal communication has a formal and well defined structure. It is inflexible in nature. There is a clear authority to report and get the instructions in a formal communication. This structure cannot be changed as it makes sure the smooth flow of communication and organisation efficiency. This channel is also known as Vertical communication which can further be divided into three types on the basis of its direction:

1. Downward communicating
2. Upward communication
3. Horizontal communication

International Business and Culture Małgorzata

Bartosik-Purgat, Monika Guzek, 2024-06-14 International Business and Culture Challenges in Cross Cultural Marketing and Management explores the intricate relationship between culture and business offering valuable insights for both practitioners and scholars. The authors delve into the profound impact of cultural dimensions on various aspects of international business, marketing, human resource management, and organisational structure. They examine the theoretical frameworks underpinning these studies through a meticulous narrative literature review and case studies. The significance of understanding cultural influences on business decisions becomes paramount in an increasingly interconnected world. The book addresses challenges faced by companies operating across diverse cultures, emphasising the need for adaptation in international marketing and management. Based on practical examples, the research focuses on identifying the most culturally sensitive areas in international business and explores the crucial cultural determinants influencing engagement with foreign markets. The book's theoretical background spans international business, marketing, and management, and it is intertwined with cultural concepts from Hofstede and Hall. It consists of 16 chapters covering marketing and communication strategies across cultures, cultural aspects of international business, and cross-cultural management based on practical examples of Duracell Inc, PepsiCo, Volkswagen, VELUX Group, and Amica Group, among others. The book highlights the undeniable interconnectedness of culture and business. As businesses expand internationally, the symbiotic relationship between culture and business remains a pivotal factor influencing success and growth.
