©2014 Pearson Education, Inc. All rights reserved.

An antigen is a substance that causes an immune response by stimulating the production of antibodies. When using latex agglutination to test for blood type, antibodies are in the test kit and the blood cells are the antigens. The antibodies agglutinate or clump the antigens. A person's blood type is determined by the antigens on their red blood cells. The antigens that are antibodies that clump together are:

Model 1 – Red Blood Cells and Antibodies

	Person with Blood Type A	Person with Blood Type B	Person with Blood Type AB	Person with Blood Type O
Cell with Surface Antigen
Antibody
Clumps in presence of Anti-A antibody
Clumps in presence of Anti-B antibody

1. Blood types in the human population are characterized by the presence or absence of antigens on the surface of the red blood cells.

a. Are any of the Model 1. body using blood types not found in the human population?

b. Which blood is used in Model 1. to represent anti-A antibody?

c. What characteristics of type A red blood cells form a type B red blood cell?

Human Blood Cell Typing Answers Pogil:

The Human Blood Ramaz Mitaishvili,2010-05-21 It is generally agreed that precise diagnosis is fundamental for the planning of treatment and for the assessment of prognosis especially in the very sensitive field hematology An attempt has been made of helping practitioners students and just a reader to understand more about blood components and blood typing I had no intention of writing a textbook of hematology but my intention was to produce a book which would be a supplement such as a textbook This book can be recommended with confidence to doctors nurses students and even the general public interested in this subject as well as to medical laboratory technicians and phlebotomists whose training will be accelerated and benefited by the reference to my book The Morphology of Human Blood Cells Lemuel Whitley Diggs,Dorothy Sturm,Ann Bell,1956 The Morphology of Human Blood Cells Lemuel W. Diggs,1956 Human Blood: An Introduction to Its Components and Types , Dennis O Neil presents an online tutorial on the components and types of human blood The tutorial provides information about red and white cells platelets plasma and blood types O Neil offers access to learning activities a glossary links to additional resources and tables showing the human blood groups and blood type frequencies Morphology of Human Blood Cells Ann Bell,Sabah Sallah,2005 Human Blood Cells: Consequences Of Genetic Polymorphisms And Variations May-jean King,2000-07-04 This important book uses selected molecules expressed on erythrocytes lymphocytes platelets and granulocytes to illustrate how genetic polymorphisms and variations in these molecules can affect their structure and function in mature human blood cells The examples described tend to have a clinical association Human blood group antigens and HLA antigens are classic examples of genetic polymorphism and they are important in blood transfusion and organ transplantation respectively In common with the blood group antigens the polymorphic and variant antigens on platelets and granulocytes can be targets for antibodies in feto maternal antigen incompatibility and transfusion reactions Certain inherited haemolytic anaemias can be attributed to some of the polymorphic and variant forms of erythrocyte anion transport protein spectrin and glucose 6 phosphate dehydrogenase which exhibit abnormal structural or functional properties Similarly the study of cytokine gene polymorphism can provide a further understanding of the immune inflammatory diseases and allogeneic transplantation a Human Blood Analysis M. K. Bhasin,Surinder Nath,V. N. Sehgal,2007 Blood a biological material is the most common evidence found in all types of forensic investigations There are two major areas of investigation Testing for biological evidence of kinship in civil cases and characterization of blood stains in criminal cases Blood groups typing is still the most commonly using immunological method employed by forensic serologists for the individualization of blood Certain enzymes and blood proteins exist in multiple genetically different forms In case of enzymes these forms are known as Isoenzymes The discovery of HLA polymorphism not only involves the variable alleles in individual loci but also the haplotypes of neighboring lined loci which increases the discrimination potential for individualization and association of some HLA antigens with particular ethnic groups thereby making them important from the forensic point of view The molecular biology has provided a more reliable techniques of DNA fingerprinting which has revolutionized the forensic analysis of blood evidence in crime investigation and today it is possible to provide valuable information in cases where scarce or and degraded amount of crime scene material could have been a limiting factor Population studies and generation of DNA databases and quality systems are further advancements in the forensic investigation of blood evidence The blood analysis proves useful for the forensic serologist in establishing the reliability of the results in any court of law

Developing a Strategy for Red Cell Antigen Typing and Matching of Blood for Chronic Transfusion Jennifer Mary Davies,2018 Combining Silicon Photonics and Machine Learning for Red Blood Cell Characterization

Alexander P. Wende,2018 Tens of millions of units of blood are transfused worldwide each year with each individual unit requiring manual typing by a trained technician prior to transfusion Several tools exist to help expedite the typing process yet typing still remains a slow and costly process In an effort to increase throughput and decrease costs of blood typing recent work involving silicon photonic biosensors has demonstrated their potential as a rapid low cost tool for typing blood This thesis focuses on two separate aspects of silicon photonic blood typing photonic sensor selection and validation along with automation of downstream data processing Transverse electric and transverse magnetic mode microring resonators are compared for serologic and phenotypic typing assays Phenotypic typing data from multiplexed photonic blood typing chips is used with several machine learning algorithms to predict blood types with accuracies rivaling by hand analysis of the same data
