The Bear That Wasn't:

The Bear that Wasn't Frank Tashlin, 1946 A bear who finds that a factory has been built around him while he was asleep hibernating Being mistaken for an unkempt worker the bear finds himself at the center of this critique of corporate culture

The Bear That Wasn't Frank Tashlin, 2010-03-09 Once upon a time in fact it was Tuesday the Bear went into the woods to settle in for his long winter nap But when he awoke what had happened The trees were gone the grass was gone the flowers were gone and in their place were buildings cars a fenced off courtyard The Bear had no idea that he was in the middle of a factory Get back to work a man yelled out of the blue I don't work here said the Bear I'm a bear The man laughed and laughed Fine excuse for a man to keep from doing any work saying he's a bear And so it began and so it went with the Bear protesting his beariness all the way from the Third Vice President to the First and no one willing to believe that he wasn't just a silly man in a fur coat who needed a shave How the bear endured and how he finally prevailed are the subject of this delightful modern fairy tale beautifully illustrated with the author's inventive line drawings about sticking up for yourself no matter how many Foremen General Managers Vice Presidents or even Company Presidents stand in your way
