

1.2 Systems in Environmental Science

Key Concepts

- Concepts of open, closed, and isolated systems in terms of matter and energy flows are essential to understanding Earth's geosphere, hydrosphere, atmosphere, and biosphere as interconnected components of Earth's systems.

1.2.1 Open, Closed, and Isolated Systems

Define each system type by your own words. Then, write a brief (2-3 sentence) example of how you'd use each type. Give some real-world examples for each.

| System      | Description  | Real-World Example  |
|-------------|--|---|
| Isolated    | no matter that the system is changed and nothing is added to it or removed.                      | None (no matter and energy is exchanged with the outside world)       |
| Closed      | The amount of matter is conserved, but energy can be added or removed.                           | the amount of matter is conserved, but energy can be added or removed |
| Open        | it can be added or removed from the system.  | matter and energy can be added or removed                             |
| Hydrosphere | By the hydrosphere we can just define Earth's surface water bodies (oceans, lakes, rivers, etc.) | the Earth's water   |
| Atmosphere  | atmosphere's ability to store energy (heat) and exchange matter with the other spheres.          | all the things and processes that are in the atmosphere               |
| Geosphere   | the physical parts surrounding the planet.   | physical parts surrounding the planet                                 |
| Biosphere   | all the matter and processes that are in the biosphere.  | hydrophere, atmosphere and a land system                              |
