Language Use and Language Learning in CLIL Classrooms Christiane Dalton-Puffer, Tarja Nikula, Ute Smit, 2010-12-15
This volume explores a highly topical issue in second and foreign language education the spreading practice in mainstream education to teach content subjects through a foreign language CLIL has been enthusiastically embraced as a language enrichment measure in many contexts and finally research can offer principled insights into its dynamics and potentials The editors introductory and concluding chapters offer a synthesis of current CLIL research as well as a critical discussion of unresolved issues relating both to theoretical concerns and research practice The individual contributions by authors from a range of European contexts report on current empirical research in this dynamic field The focus of these chapters ranges from theoretical to empirical from learning outcomes to classroom talk examining both the written and spoken mode across secondary and tertiary educational contexts This volume is a valuable resource not only for researchers and teachers but also for policy makers

Language Use and Language Learning in CLIL Classrooms Christiane Dalton-Puffer, Tarja Nikula, Ute Smit, 2010 This volume explores a highly topical issue in second and foreign language education the spreading practice in mainstream education to teach content subjects through a foreign language CLIL has been enthusiastically embraced as a language enrichment measure in many contexts and finally research can offer principled insights into its dynamics and potentials The editors introductory and concluding chapters offer a synthesis of current CLIL research as well as a critical discussion of unresolved issues relating both to theoretical concerns and research practice The individual contributions by authors from a range of European contexts report on current empirical research in this dynamic field The focus of these chapters ranges from theoretical to empirical from learning outcomes to classroom talk examining both the written and spoken mode across secondary and tertiary educational contexts This volume is a valuable resource not only for researchers and teachers but also for policy makers

Discourse in Content and Language Integrated Learning (CLIL) Classrooms Christiane Dalton-Puffer, 2007 The label CLIL stands for classrooms where a foreign language English is used as a medium of instruction in content subjects This book provides a first in depth analysis of the kind of communicative abilities which are embodied in such CLIL classrooms It examines teacher and student talk at secondary school level from different discourse analytic angles taking into account the interpersonal pragmatics of classroom discourse and how school subjects are talked into being during lessons The analysis shows how CLIL classroom interaction is strongly shaped by its institutional context which in turn conditions the ways in which students experience use and learn the target language The research presented here suggests that CLIL programmes require more explicit language learning goals in order to fully exploit their potential for furthering the learners appropriation of a foreign language as a medium of learning

The Roles of Language in CLIL Ana Llinares, Tom Morton, Rachel Whittaker, 2012-03-15 This book provides a theoretically based approach to the integration of language and content in primary and secondary contexts Drawing on their wide experience as

CLIL educators and researchers the authors explore data collected in real CLIL classrooms from two interrelated perspectives the CLIL classroom as an interactional context for developing language and content and the genres and registers through which the meanings of the different academic subjects are enacted From the analysis of this corpus of data the authors provide a rich description of how CLIL students language works and may be expected to develop Also available separately as a hardback Applied Linguistics Perspectives on CLIL Ana Llinares, Tom Morton, 2017-03-16 This book represents the first collection of studies on Content and Language Integrated Learning CLIL which brings together a range of perspectives through which CLIL has been investigated within Applied Linguistics The book aims to show how the four perspectives of Second Language Acquisition SLA Systemic Functional Linguistics SFL Discourse Analysis and Sociolinguistics highlight different important aspects of CLIL as a context for second language development Each of the four sections in the book opens with an overview of one of the perspectives written by a leading scholar in the field and is then followed by three empirical studies which focus on specific aspects of CLIL seen from this perspective Topics covered include motivation the use of tasks pragmatic development speech functions in spoken interaction the use of evaluative language in expressing content knowledge in writing multimodal interaction assessment for learning L1 use in the classroom English medium instruction in universities and CLIL teachers professional identities

Assessment and Learning in Content and Language Integrated Learning (CLIL) Classrooms Mark deBoer, Dmitri Leontjev, 2020-11-17 This volume builds a conceptual basis for assessment promoting learning in Content and Language Integrated Learning CLIL classrooms and proposes practical assessment approaches and activities that CLIL teachers can apply in the classroom CLIL as an educational context is unique as language and content learning happen simultaneously The efficacy of such instruction has been studied extensively but assessment in CLIL classrooms has drawn much less attention The present volume aims to fill this gap Arranged based on different ways that content and language are integrated in CLIL the chapters in this book together build a solid theoretical basis for assessment promoting learning in CLIL classrooms The authors discuss how assessment eliciting this integration yields insights into learners abilities but more importantly how these insights are used to promote learning The contributors to the volume together build the understanding of classroom based assessment as cyclic of teaching learning and assessment as inter related and of content and language in CLIL classrooms as a dialectical unity This volume will spark interest in and discussion of classroom based assessment in CLIL among CLIL educators and researchers enable reflection of classroom assessment practices and foster collaboration between CLIL teachers and researchers The assessment approaches and activities discussed in the volume in turn will help educators understand the scope of applications of assessment and inspire them to adapt these to their own classrooms

Content and Language Integrated Learning Yolanda Ruiz de Zarobe, 2017-10-02 This book explores some of the recent research undertaken on Content and Language Integrated Learning CLIL It offers an overview of several European contexts describing experiences that could be extrapolated to many other communities worldwide Contributions focus on issues related to language policy moving from high level policymaking to grassroots decisions but all of them encompassing the major changes that can be recognized in education which also evidence the shifts in society and economic life that have taken place in Europe in the last decades These changes in language policy issues are coupled with changes in CLIL practice in the classroom These national initiatives are displayed across a wide range of educational perspectives portraying the diversity that is a distinctive feature of CLIL in the European educational mosaic By providing new insights into pedagogic methodological and language policy issues in CLIL and by covering some areas which have been insufficiently addressed in the literature such as the implementation of CLIL in less successful contexts or learner teacher collaboration in the classroom this book will be of great value to researchers stakeholders and professionals interested in CLIL and language education This book was originally published as a special issue of the International Journal of Bilingual Education and Bilingualism

The Routledge Handbook of Educational Linguistics Martha Bigelow, Johanna Ennser-Kananen, 2014-08-13 The Routledge Handbook of Educational Linguistics provides a comprehensive survey of the core and current language related issues in educational contexts Bringing together the expertise and voices of well established as well as emerging scholars from around the world the handbook offers over thirty authoritative and critical explorations of methodologies and contexts of educational linguistics issues of instruction and assessment and teacher education as well as coverage of key topics such as advocacy critical pedagogy and ethics and politics of research in educational linguistics Each chapter relates to key issues raised in the respective topic providing additional historical background critical discussion reviews of pertinent research methods and an assessment of what the future might hold This volume embraces multiple dynamic perspectives and a range of voices in order to move forward in new and productive directions making The Routledge Handbook of Educational Linguistics an essential volume for any student and researcher interested in the issues surrounding language and education particularly in multilingual and multicultural settings

Teaching, Learning and Scaffolding in CLIL Science Classrooms Yuen Yi Lo, Angel M.Y. Lin, 2021-05-15 This edited volume presents a collection of empirical studies examining the teaching and learning processes in science classrooms in Content and Language Integrated Learning CLIL contexts It is a timely contribution to the rapidly growing body of CLIL research in response to scholars consistent calls for more classroom based research on the issues in integration of content and language teaching in lessons With the dual goal of content and language learning students in CLIL programmes are also facing double challenges mastery of abstract cognitively demanding content knowledge and unfamiliar academic language Focusing on the notion of scaffolding this edited volume demonstrates how science teachers can provide appropriate and timely scaffolding for their students to overcome the challenges in CLIL science classrooms With studies from different educational settings Hong Kong Mainland China Singapore and Australia and epistemological paradigms and adopting a variety of research designs this volume will provide key insights into CLIL pedagogy and teacher education Originally published as special issue of Journal of Immersion and Content Based Language Education 7 2 2019

Discourse and language learning across L2 instructional settings, 2012-01-01 Studies on discourse and language learning originated in the field of general education and they focused on first language learning environments However since 1980s research on discourse and language learning broadened the scope of investigation to respond to second and foreign language environments Recently the emergence of new language learning contexts such as computer mediated communication multilingual settings or content and language integrated contexts requires further research that focuses on discourse and language learning From this perspective the present volume aims to broaden the scope of investigation in foreign language contexts by exploring discourse patterns in the classroom and examining the impact of factors such as gender explicitness of feedback or L1 use on language learning through discourse With that aim in mind this volume will bring together research that investigates discourse in various instructional settings namely those of primary secondary and university L2 learning environments content and language integrated contexts and other new language learning settings The number and variety of languages involved both as the first language e.g English Finnish Basque Spanish Japanese French Italian Catalan as well as the target foreign language e.g. English, French, Italian, Japanese, Spanish makes the volume specially attractive. Additionally, the different approaches adopted by the researchers participating in this volume, such as information processing, sociocultural theory, or conversation analysis, widen the realm of investigation on discourse and language learning. Finally, the strength of the volume also lies in the range of educational settings (primary, secondary, and tertiary education) and the worldwide representation of contributors across seven different countries, namely those of Spain, France, Austria, Finland, Germany, Canada, Australia, and the United States. The uniqueness of the volume is due to its eclectic and comprehensive nature in tackling instructional discourse. Worldwide outstanding researchers like Julianne House, Carme Muñoz, Ute Smit, Tarja Nikula, or Roy Lyster to quote but a few, adopt different perspectives in this joint contribution that will certainly broaden the scope of research on language learners' discourse.

CLIL Do Coyle, Philip Hood, David Marsh, 2010-04-01

CLIL (Content and Language Integrated Learning) has emerged since the millennium as a major trend in education. Written by Do Coyle, Philip Hood, and David Marsh, and drawing on their experience of CLIL in secondary schools, primary schools, and English language schools across Europe, this book gives a comprehensive overview of CLIL. It summarises the theory which underpins the teaching of a content subject through another language and discusses its practical application, outlining the key directions for the development of research and practice. This book acknowledges the uncertainty many teachers feel about CLIL because of the requirement for both language and subject knowledge while providing theoretical and practical routes towards successful practice for all.
