Experiment Earth Jack Stilgoe, 2015-02-20

Experiments in geoenvironmental engineering intentionally manipulating the Earth's climate to reduce global warming have become the focus of a vital debate about responsible science and innovation. Drawing on three years of sociological research working with scientists on one of the world's first major geoenvironmental engineering projects, this book examines the politics of experimentation. Geoenvironmental engineering provides a test case for rethinking the responsibilities of scientists and asking how science can take better care of the futures that it helps bring about. This book gives students, researchers, and the general reader interested in the place of science in contemporary society a compelling framework for future thinking and discussion.

The Credibility Crisis in Science Thomas Plümper, Eric Neumayer, 2026-03-17. A novel perspective on scientific fraud: how undisclosed tweaks to research designs and model specifications fuel the credibility crisis in science. In The Credibility Crisis in Science, leading social scientists Thomas Plümper and Eric Neumayer argue that the most impactful fraud is crucially under-recognized. While data fabrication and manipulation are widely recognized as fraudulent tweaks, the intentional selection of research designs and model specifications based on the results they give are not. As a consequence, the credibility crisis in science is even more severe than both scientists and the public believe. The authors show how easily observational data analyses, experimental designs, and causal models are tweaked in ways that are extremely difficult, often impossible, to detect. They also argue that conventional strategies to deter, prevent, and detect fraud will not work for tweaks. They put forth two potential solutions: first, a classification system that categorizes data based on its susceptibility to manipulation and the probability of such manipulation being identified; and second, the proposal that journal editors and reviewers, rather than authors, select robustness tests.

Hope in Health Alan Petersen, 2015-05-27. Health professionals have shown a growing interest in the therapeutic value of hope in recent years. However, hope has been examined mainly from psychological and biomedical perspectives. Importantly, Hope in Health explores how hope manifests and is sustained in various arenas of health, medicine, and healthcare.

Culture, Technology, Communication. Common World, Different Futures José Abdelnour-Nocera, Michele Strano, Charles Ess, Maja Van der Velden, Herbert Hrachovec, 2016-11-26. This volume constitutes the refereed post-conference proceedings of the 10th IFIP WG 13.8 International Conference on Culture, Technology, and Communication (CaTaC 2016) held in London, UK, in June 2016. The 9 revised full papers were carefully reviewed and selected from 22 submissions. The papers explore the intersections between culture, technology, and communication, applying different theoretical and methodological perspectives, genres, and styles. They deal with cultural attitudes towards technology and communication, interaction design, and international development.
