Because these issues are rarely addressed in teacher preparation programs, few teachers feel confident facilitating conversations around culturally and politically sensitive issues in ways that honor their diverse students' voices and lead to critical, transformative thinking. The author describes a four-step method to help teachers structure discussions and written assignments while concurrently assisting them in addressing Common Core State Standards. Designed to aid students in both developing their own viewpoints on contentious issues and in actively critiquing those of their teachers and peers, these practices will enhance any humanities curriculum. Book Features: Offers guidance for exploring difficult and/or controversial aspects of course content. Provides an excellent means of differentiating instruction and promoting critical literacy. Helps teachers to foster positive behavior and decision-making with their students. Enables students to improve their reading, writing, speaking, listening, and observation skills. Assists teachers in attaining the CCSS and other curricular mandates in their secondary humanities classrooms. Darwin has provided us all with a powerful tool for guiding students as they explore their identity, unafraid to explore what it means to be human. From the Foreword by Douglas Fisher, professor of educational leadership, San Diego State University. Darwin takes on the big, important issues in adolescents' lives that often go unaddressed in most classrooms. With an equal balance of sensitivity and directness, she exhorts teachers to name, deconstruct, and think curricularly about the cultural and political forces influencing and being influenced by today's youth.
