The Woman Question in Islamic Studies Kecia Ali, 2024-09-17 The interconnected ways that sexism functions in academic Islamic studies and how to shift professional norms toward parity Despite remarkable shifts in the demographics of Islamic studies in recent decades the field continues to be dominated by men who often relegate other scholars and their work particularly research on gender to its periphery while treating subfields in which men predominate as more rigorous and central In The Woman Question in Islamic Studies Kecia Ali explores the interconnected ways that sexism functions in academic Islamic studies Examining publications citations curricula and media representations Ali finds that despite the growth and depth of scholarship on Islam and gender men continue to overlook women's scholarship even in work that purports to discuss gender issues. Moreover, media and social media dynamics make talking about Islam and Muslims for broader audiences especially fraught for scholars who are not men, particularly when the topic is gender or sexuality. Combining broad surveys with more focused analyses of a smaller set of texts, Ali shows that textbooks and syllabi continue to exclude women as historical actors and scholars and to marginalize gender and sexuality as subject matter. Finally, she provides a Beginner's Guide to Eradicating Sexism in Islamic Studies offering practical strategies to help scholars avoid common pitfalls in their own work and contribute to broader professional transformations.

The Portable Feminist Reader Roxane Gay, 2025-03-25 A New York Times Bestseller. A dynamic and strikingly relevant look at a feminist canon as expansive rather than definitive. A Penguin Classic. For Roxane Gay, a feminist canon is subjective and always evolving. A feminist canon represents a long history of feminist scholarship, embraces skepticism, and invites robust discussion and debate. Selected writings by ancient, historic, and more recent feminist voices include Henricus Cornelius Agrippa, Anna Julia Cooper, Kimberl Crenshaw, Dorothy Allison, Leslie Feinberg, Eileen Myles, Mona Eltahawy, bell hooks, Sara Ahmed, Cherré Moraga, Audre Lorde, The Guerrilla Girls, and many more. With an introduction, headnotes, and an inspired list of multimedia recommendations, Roxane Gay presents multicultural perspectives: ecofeminism, feminism, and disability feminism; labor, gender perspectives, and Black feminism. Through The Portable Feminist Reader, readers explore the state of American feminism, its successes and failures, and what feminism looks like in practice as a complex, contradictory, personal, and political and ever-growing legacy of feminist thought.

Women in Populist Rhetoric Agnieszka Kasińska-Metryka, Karolina Pałka-Suchojad, 2025-07-28. At a time of increasing right-wing populism, Women in Populist Rhetoric examines the relationship between populist rhetoric and the real social changes that affect women and how populists gain prominence through the support they receive. Covering a broad spectrum of right-wing group activity in Western, Central, and Eastern Europe, including Hungary, France, and Czechia, this volume takes an important look at the phenomena at the level of leadership and the practice of its operation. The book is divided into four parts: the first describes the phenomenon of right-wing populism; the second examines language as a tool of populist influence; and the third and fourth analyse the narratives of populist parties towards women across different European countries. An important text for the present moment, Women in Populist Rhetoric is an invaluable text for students of politics, sociology, and gender studies.

Mother Jones, 2017 Hope in the Dark Rebecca Solnit, 2016-05-14 A landmark book Solnit illustrates how the uprisings that begin on the streets can upend the status quo and topple authoritarian regimes Vice A book as powerful and influential as Rebecca Solnit's Men Explain Things to Me her Hope in the Dark was written to counter the despair of activists at a moment when they were focused on their losses and had turned their back to the victories behind them and the unimaginable changes soon to come In it she makes a radical case for hope as a commitment to act in a world whose future remains uncertain and unknowable Drawing on her decades of activism and a wide reading of environmental cultural and political history Solnit argues that radicals have a long neglected history of transformative victories that the positive consequences of our acts are not always immediately seen directly knowable or even measurable and that pessimism and despair rest on an unwarranted confidence about what is going to happen next Now with a moving new introduction explaining how the book came about and a new afterword that helps teach us how to hope and act in our unnerving world she brings a new illumination to the darkness of our times in an unforgettable new edition of this classic book One of the best books of the 21st century The Guardian No writer has better understood the mix of fear and possibility peril and exuberance that's marked this new millennium Bill McKibben New York Times bestselling author of Falter An elegant reminder that activist victories are easily forgotten and that they often come in extremely unexpected roundabout ways The New Yorker
