Cotler, 1980 Classroom Assessment James H. McMillan, 2004 This book provides prospective and current teachers with a concise non technical and practical guide to conducting a full range of high quality classroom assessments The text emphasizes assessment in the context of the realities of teaching and teacher decision making as well as on how assessment is integrated with instruction Assessment methods are integrated with instruction and presented according to when teachers evaluate students before during and after an instructional unit and the learning targets that are measured There is considerable emphasis on the nature of learning targets and how different assessments are most appropriate for different targets For each assessment technique suggestions for effective practice are presented with examples and case studies There are separate chapters on contemporary assessment techniques and issues such as performance and portfolio assessments as well as separate chapters on assessing affective targets and students with disabilities included in the regular classroom A balance is provided with traditional forms of assessment and the need for teachers to administer interpret and use results from standards based large scale assessments and other standardized tests Professional Educator Content and Full Exam -- R. L. Dawson, 1998 What We Call Smart Lynda Miller, 1993 Noting that the collective stories of special education have grown out of a tradition that by its nature tends to perpetuate problems this book examines such narratives and how they influence thinking and belief about intelligence and learning It begins by examining how the current story of intelligence developed and illustrates some of the consequences of accepting the concept of intelligence as anything that can be measured or quantified and defined as normal. The second chapter discusses how deviation from what is considered normal came to be defined as learning disability and therefore emerged as parallel to the concept of intelligence. An alternative approach to learning, one founded on describing people's qualities rather than measuring quantities thought to represent their thinking and actions, is narrated in chapter 3. Chapter 4 replaces the idea of intelligent with smart and describes eight ways of being smart which use the broad concept of multiple intelligences as guidelines. Two tools are presented in chapter 5 which individuals can use to describe how they themselves are smart and how other people are smart. The last chapter describes two programs, Project Smart and Project ABLE, which are a practical expression of the new alternative to learning. Contains 93 references. BAC
