an ordered change in an individual throughout his or her lifespan and not as sets of individual differences between persons nor as stage like progressions The concept of developmental task is introduced stressing contexts within which individuals meet eliciting transitions in their behavior and by implication in the self The developmental task concept is compatible with the activity theory of Gal perin especially the concept of meaningful learning The authors show how their concept may be applied to age related crises the acquisition of a moral status the achievement of educational independence the assessment of readiness for school acquisition of peer status acquisition of concepts of morality and the task of ageing For professional

Developmental Tasks in Adolescence Klaus Hurrelmann,Gudrun Quenzel,2018-11-08 The topic of adolescent development in Europe is one which has received little academic attention in recent years Developmental Tasks in Adolescence makes an exciting contribution to the field by applying socialisation theory to four major developmental tasks of life Qualifying Bonding Consumption and Participation arguing that if the tasks in these areas are mastered then personal individuation and social integration can take place a prerequisite for the formation of self identity In highly developed societies adolescence encompasses a period of about 15 years on average Puberty or the transition from childhood starts earlier and earlier and the transition to adulthood is increasingly postponed Developmental Tasks in Adolescence proposes that the way in which adolescents master the tasks of everyday life has become a pattern of orientation for the life stages which follow because of the new lifestyle requirements that are typical for modern democratic societies Today a life full of uncertainties and ambiguities is no longer limited to adolescence but rather continues into adulthood Hurrelmann and Quenzel s sociological approach is valuable reading for students and academics in psychology sociology education social work and youth studies and for those on professional training courses in these fields Teaching and Learning in the Junior High School Roland
