Digital Discourse Language In The New Media:

Digital Discourse Crispin Thurlow, Kristine Mroczek, 2011-10-26 Digital Discourse offers a distinctly sociolinguistic perspective on the nature of language in digital technologies. It starts by simply bringing new media sociolinguistics up to date, addressing current technologies like instant messaging, text messaging, blogging, photo sharing, mobile phones, gaming, social network sites, and video sharing. Chapters cover a range of communicative contexts: journalism, gaming, tourism, leisure, performance, public debate, communicators, professional and lay young people and adults, intimates and groups, and languages: Irish, Hebrew, Chinese, Finnish, Japanese, German, Greek, Arabic, and French. The volume is organized around topics of primary interest to sociolinguists, including genre, style, and stance. With commentaries from the two most internationally recognized scholars of new media discourse, Naomi Baron and Susan Herring, and essays by well-established scholars and new voices in sociolinguistics, the volume will be more current, more diverse, and more thematically unified than any other collection on the topic.

Analyzing Digital Discourse Patricia Bou-Franch, Pilar Garcés-Conejos Blitvich, 2018-09-29 This innovative edited collection presents new insights into emerging debates around digital communication practices. It brings together research by leading international experts to examine methods and approaches, multimodality, face and identity across five thematically organized sections. Its contributors revise current paradigms in view of past, present, and future research and analyse how users deploy the wealth of multimodal resources afforded by digital technologies to undertake tasks and to enact identity. In its concluding section, it identifies the ideologies that underpin the construction of digital texts in the social world. This important contribution to digital discourse studies will have interdisciplinary appeal across the fields of linguistics, socio-linguistics, pragmatics, discourse analysis, gender studies, multimodality, media and communication studies.

Visualizing Digital Discourse Crispin Thurlow, Christa Dürscheid, Federica Diémoz, 2020-02-10 The first dedicated volume of its kind, Visualizing Digital Discourse brings together sociolinguists and discourse analysts examining the role of visual communication in digital media. The volume showcases work from leading established and emerging scholars from across Europe, covering a diverse range of digital media platforms such as messaging, video chat, gaming, and wikis, visual modalities such as emojis, video, and layout, methodologies like discourse analysis, ethnography, and conversation analysis, as well as data from different languages. With an opening chapter by Rodney Jones, the volume is organized into three parts: Besides Words and Writing, The Social Life of Images, and Designing Multimodal Texts. From the perspective of these broad domains, chapters tackle some of the major ideological, interactional, and institutional implications of visuality for digital discourse studies. The first part, beginning with a co-authored chapter by Crispin Thurlow, focuses on micro-level visual practices and their macro-level framing, all with particular regard for emojis. The second part, beginning with a chapter from Sirpa Leppänen, examines the ways visual resources are used for managing personal relations and the wider cultural politics of visual representation in these practices. The third part, beginning with a chapter by Hartmut Stöckl, considers organizational contexts.

where users deploy visual resources for more transactional often commercial ends
