Architectural Principles In The Age Of Humanism:

Architectural Principles in the Age of Humanism Rudolf Wittkower, 1971 Sir Kenneth Clark wrote in the Architectural Review that the first result of this book was to dispose once and for all of the hedonist or purely aesthetic theory of Renaissance architecture and this defines Wittkower's intention in a nutshell Architectural Principles in the Age of Humanism. \(Second Edition.\). Rudolf Wittkower, 1952 Rudolf Wittkower, Architectural principles in the age of humanism. [Review]. James S. Ackerman, Architectural Principles in the Age of Historicism Robert Jan van Pelt, Robert Jan Pelt, Carroll William Westfall, 1991-01-01 Explores the relationship between architectural history and the current practice of architecture The authors draw on insights from anthropology ancient history theology philosophy and the Holocaust They also provide practical ideas which should help students build a more human world Architectural Principles in the Age of Humanism 2nd Ed, 1952 Architectural Principles of the Age of Humanism Applied Humberto L. Rodríguez-Camilloni, 1969 Rudolf Wittkower, Architectural Principles in the Age of Humanism Henry A. Millon, 1972 The Projective Cast Robin Evans, 2000-08-25 Robin Evans recasts the idea of the relationship between geometry and architecture drawing on mathematics engineering art history and aesthetics to uncover processes in the imagining and realizing of architectural form Anyone reviewing the history of architectural theory Robin Evans observes would have to conclude that architects do not produce geometry but rather consume it In this long awaited book completed shortly before its author's death Evans recasts the idea of the relationship between geometry and architecture drawing on mathematics engineering art history and aesthetics to uncover processes in the imagining and realizing of architectural form He shows that geometry does not always play a stolid and dormant role but in fact may be an active agent in the links between thinking and imagination imagination and drawing drawing and building He suggests a theory of architecture that is based on the many transactions between architecture and geometry as evidenced in individual buildings largely in Europe from the fifteenth to the twentieth century From the Henry VII chapel at Westminster Abbey to Le Corbusier's Ronchamp from Raphael's St Eligio and the work of Piero della Francesca and Philibert Delorme to Guarino Guarini and the painters of cubism Evans explores the geometries involved asking whether they are in fact the stable underpinnings of the creative intuitive or rhetorical aspects of architecture In particular he concentrates on the history of architectural projection the geometry of vision that has become an internalized and pervasive pictorial method of construction and that until now has played only a small part in the development of architectural theory Evans describes the ambivalent role that pictures play in architecture and urges resistance to the idea that pictures provide all that architects need suggesting that there is much more within the scope of the architect's vision of a project than what can be drawn He defines the different fields of projective transmission that concern architecture and investigates the ambiguities of projection and the interaction of imagination with projection and its metaphors Architecture as a Frail, Literary Object Mark Campbell, 2026-04-06 This book considers the motives ambitions and malaprops of writing architectural history during the early 1900s a moment that coincided with the emergence of modernity In reference to a series of eccentric Anglo American cultural figures it considers the relationships between architecture human perception disease and frailty to provide original ideas regarding the writing of architectural history and the literary construction of architecture Architecture is not typically associated with frailty Indeed one of the founding principles of architecture is that it should aspire to be stable resilient and indefatigable In addition architecture is also not typically thought of in terms of its literariness Tracing this contradictoriness this book considers architecture as a frail literary object by examining the eccentric architectural criticism of Geoffrey Scott author of The Architecture of Humanism 1914 together with the opportunistic connoisseurship of Bernard Berenson the leading authority on the attribution of Italian Renaissance painting Through a reading of their works it interprets architecture as both frail when viewed through the diffracted lens of nervous illness and a form of writing in which architecture assumes concrete form through literary description This book will be of interest to academics students and researchers in architecture and architectural history
