LISTENING

Your scaled score is between 400 and 495. Test takers who score around 400 typically have the following strengths:

- They can infer the central idea, purpose, or content of short spoken exchanges across a broad range of conversational responses and indirect or implied information.
- They can infer the central idea, purpose, or content of short spoken texts across a broad range of vocabulary. They can do this even when the information is not supported by repetition or paraphrase and when it is necessary to connect information across the text.
- They can understand details in short spoken exchanges, even when negative constructions are present, when the language is spoken in a complex, or when difficult vocabulary is used.
- They can understand details in extended spoken texts, even when necessary to connect information across the text and when information is not supported by repetition. They can understand when the information is paraphrased or when negative constructions are present.

To see weaknesses typical of test takers who score around 400, see the Proficiency Description Table.

READING

Your scaled score is 450. Test takers who score around 450 typically have the following strengths:

- They can understand the main idea and purpose of a written text, and they can understand specific details.
- They can understand information across an entire text, and they can make connections between two related texts.
- They can understand a broad range of vocabulary, unusual meanings of common words, and idiomatic usage. They can also make distinctions between the meanings of closely related words.
- They can understand rule-based grammatical structures. They can also understand difficult, complex, and uncommon grammatical constructions.

To see weaknesses typical of test takers who score around 450, see the Proficiency Description Table.
