The Lost Future Jan Zielonka,2023-02-07 A timely and compelling argument for a revitalized and restructured global politics The future seems increasingly uncertain Our democracies are failing to prevent financial crises energy shortages climate change and war so how can we look to the future with confidence Jan Zielonka argues that it is democracy s shortsightedness that makes politics stumble in our increasingly connected world With our governments still confined to the borders of nation states defending the short term interests of present day voters the consequences for future generations are dire In this incisive account Zielonka makes a bold case for a new politics of time and space He considers how democracy should adjust to the world of high speed and he questions our everyday experiences as citizens Is it acceptable for authorities and firms to monitor our whereabouts Why is the distribution of time and space so unequal And most crucially can we construct a new system of governance that will allow us to plan ahead with certainty

The Future Is Asian Parag Khanna,2019-02-05 In the 19th century the world was Europeanized In the 20th century it was Americanized Now in the 21st century the world is being Asianized The Asian Century is even bigger than you think Far greater than just China the new Asian system taking shape is a multi civilizational order spanning Saudi Arabia to Japan Russia to Australia Turkey to Indonesia linking five billion people through trade finance infrastructure and diplomatic networks that together represent 40 percent of global GDP China has taken a lead in building the new Silk Roads across Asia but it will not lead it alone Rather Asia is rapidly returning to the centuries old patterns of commerce conflict and cultural exchange that thrived long before European colonialism and American dominance Asians will determine their own future and as they collectively assert their interests around the world they will determine ours as well There is no more important region of the world for us to better understand than Asia and thus we cannot afford to keep getting Asia so wrong Asia s complexity has led to common misdiagnoses Western thinking on Asia conflates the entire region with China predicts imminent World War III around every corner and regularly forecasts debt driven collapse for the region s major economies But in reality the region is experiencing a confident new wave of growth led by younger societies from India to the Philippines nationalist leaders have put aside territorial disputes in favor of integration and today s infrastructure investments are the platform for the next generation of digital innovation If the nineteenth century featured the Europeanization of the world and the twentieth century its Americanization then the twenty first century is the time of Asianization From investment portfolios and trade wars to Hollywood movies and university admissions no aspect of life is immune from Asianization With America s tech sector dependent on Asian talent and politicians praising Asia s glittering cities and efficient governments Asia is permanently in our nation s consciousness We know this will be the Asian century Now we finally have an accurate picture of what it will look like

Uses and Misuses of International Economic Law Moritz J. K. Blenk,2022-09-12 Standardization is a classic form of rulemaking Nonetheless it is notoriously diffuse and gives rise to questions and debate in particular over the standards normativity legitimacy and nature whether public or private national or international Moritz J K Blenk applies a policy orientated approach to international law to comparatively analyze the role of private rulemaking within the context of international economic integration in the World Trade Organization and the European Union He thereby aims to elucidate the opaque phenomenon of private standardization from a legal perspective and more profoundly shed new light on economic integration

Chinese Way, The: Overcoming Challenges For A Shared Future Fabio Massimo Parenti, 2023-07-07 The book aims to communicate to readers in a clear fluent and well documented fashion the new role that China plays in the geography of world power evaluating its weight influence and impact on future developments China's ambition and its vision of international affairs can be summed up in Beijing's desire to build a community of common destiny for mankind Behind this concept lies the desire to present itself as a peaceful nation interested in a common global development in full compliance with the principles embraced by the United Nations to be achieved through win win relationships capable of bringing mutual benefits to the actors engaged in international cooperation China has experienced extraordinary growth in recent decades and intends to continue carving out the space it deserves in various international fora According to the author this does not necessarily represent a threat as its Western detractors contend given the People's Republic's intention to achieve its goals through mutual respect spatial interconnection and long term productive investments The book has been published in Italy by Meltemi and is in course of publication by the Chinese publisher New Star Press Those who deal with China are well aware that the West's gaze on the People's Republic has often been dismissive superficial and distorted A sort of festival of stereotyped opinions with value judgments constantly used to highlight the West's alleged superiority vis vis the Chinese model Regardless of whether one likes the Chinese political economic system or not no country can avoid engaging with it Especially if we consider that the exhaustion of the propulsive thrust of Western globalization is increasingly evident and corresponds conversely to the rise of a new constructive globalization with Chinese characteristics Fabio Massimo Parenti Youtube Author's commentary

Inventing Future Cities Michael Batty, 2018-12-11 How we can invent but not predict the future of cities We cannot predict future cities but we can invent them Cities are largely unpredictable because they are complex systems that are more like organisms than machines Neither the laws of economics nor the laws of mechanics apply cities are the product of countless individual and collective decisions that do not conform to any grand plan They are the product of our inventions they evolve In Inventing Future Cities Michael Batty explores what we need to understand about cities in order to invent their future Batty outlines certain themes principles that apply to all cities He investigates not the invention of artifacts but inventive processes Today form is becoming ever more divorced from function information networks now shape the traditional functions of cities as places of exchange and innovation By the end of this century most of the world's population will live in cities large or small sometimes contiguous and always connected in an urbanized world it will be increasingly difficult to define a city by its physical boundaries Batty discusses the coming great transition from a world with few cities to a world of all cities argues that future cities will be defined as clusters in a hierarchy describes the future high frequency real time streaming city considers urban sprawl and urban renewal and maps the waves of technological change which grow ever more intense and lead to continuous innovation an unending process of creative destruction out of which future cities will emerge

Move Parag Khanna,2021-10-07 Where will you live in 2030 Where will your children settle in 2040 What will the map of humanity look like in 2050 Mobility is a recurring feature of human civilisation Now as climate change tips toward full blown crisis economies collapse governments destabilise and technology disrupts we re entering a new age of mass migrations one that will scatter both the dispossessed and the well off Which areas will people abandon and where will they resettle Which countries will accept or reject them As today s world population which includes four billion restless youth votes with their feet what map of human geography will emerge In Move global strategy advisor Parag Khanna provides an illuminating and authoritative vision of the next phase of human civilisation one that is both mobile and sustainable while guiding each of us as we determine our optimal location on humanity s ever changing map Technocracy in America Parag Khanna,2017-01-10 American democracy just isn t good enough anymore A costly election has done more to divide American society than unite it while trust in government and democracy itself is plummeting But there are better systems out there and America would be wise to learn from them In this provocative manifesto globalization scholar Parag Khanna tours cutting edge nations from Switzerland to Singapore to reveal the inner workings that allow them that lead the way in managing the volatility of a fast changing world while delivering superior welfare and prosperity for their citizens The ideal form of government for the complex 21st century is what Khanna calls a direct technocracy one led by experts but perpetually consulting the people through a combination of democracy and data From a seven member presidency and a restructured cabinet to replacing the Senate with an Assembly of Governors Technocracy in America is full of sensible proposals that have been proven to work in the world s most successful societies Americans have a choice for whom they elect president but they should not wait any longer to redesign their political system following Khanna s pragmatic vision

Splinternet Scott Malcomson,2016-03-17 This is not your ordinary history of the Internet Scott Malcomson has brilliantly extended the connections between Silicon Valley and the military back far beyond DARPA back in fact to World War I If you want to understand the conflict between cyberspace utopians and the states and corporations who seek to dominate our virtual lives you ve got to read this book James Ledbetter editor Inc Magazine In elegant prose powered by deep research and with a surprisingly vivid cast of characters Scott Malcomson shows how profound the relationship is between the state and the Internet As major powers try to assert control over the Web Splinternet illuminates both how we got to this point and how to move forward Parag Khanna global contributor CNN and author of Connectography Mapping the Future of Global Civilization There s always been something universalizing about the Internet The World Wide Web has seemed both inherently singular and global a sort of ethereal United Nations But today as Scott Malcomson contends in this concise brilliant investigation the Internet is cracking apart into discrete groups no longer willing or able to connect The implications of this shift are momentous Malcomson traces the way the Internet has been shaped by government needs since the 19th century above all the demands of the US military and intelligence services From World War I cryptography and spying to weapons targeting against Hitler and then Stalin the monolithic aspect of the digital network was largely determined by its genesis in a single state sponsored institution In the 1960s internationalism and openness were introduced by the tech pioneers of California s counter culture the seed bed for what became Google Microsoft Facebook and Apple But in the last 15 years security concerns of states and the privatizing impetus of e commerce have come to the fore and momentum has shifted in a new direction towards private walled domains each vying with the other in an increasingly fragmented system in effect a Splinternet Because the Internet today surrounds us so comprehensively it s easy to regard the way it functions as a simple given part of the natural order of things Only by stepping back and scrutinizing the evolution of the system can we see the Internet for what it is a contested protean terrain constantly evolving as different forces intervene to drive it forward In that vital exercise Malcomson s elegant erudite account will prove invaluable
