Blues For Mister Charlie:

Blues for Mister Charlie James Baldwin, 1955-04-25 An award winning play from one of America's most brilliant writers about a murder in a small Southern town loosely based on the 1955 killing of Emmett Till A play with fires of fury in its belly tears of anguish in its eyes a roar of protest in its throat The New York Times James Baldwin turns a murder and its aftermath into an inquest in which even the most well intentioned whites are implicated and in which even a killer receives his share of compassion In a small Southern town a white man murders a black man then throws his body in the weeds With this act of violence James Baldwin launches an unsparing and at times agonizing probe of the wounds of race For where once a white storekeeper could have shot a boy like Richard Henry with impunity times have changed And centuries of brutality and fear patronage and contempt are about to erupt in a moment of truth as devastating as a shotgun blast

The Spectacle of Death Kristin Boudreau, 2006-04-04 In 1787 Benjamin Rush cautioned that public punishments were dangerous to the social and legal authority of the new nation For Rush irrepressible human sentiments all but guaranteed that public punishments would turn spectators against the institutions responsible for the punishments Although public executions of criminals ended early in the 19th century debate over the morality of capital punishment has continued to this day In this unique and fascinating glimpse into public reactions to prominent executions from colonial times to the 1990s Kristin Boudreau focuses on the central role of populist often ephemeral literary forms in shaping attitudes toward capital punishment Surveying popular poems ballads plays and novels she shows that at key times of social unrest in American history many Americans have felt excluded by the political and legal processes and have turned instead to inexpensive literary forms of expression in an attempt to change the course of history Among the significant capital cases that the author discusses are the Haymarket anarchist trial of 1886 the lynching of Leo Frank in 1914 the murder of Emmett Till in 1955 and its effects on the Civil Rights movement Norman Mailer's treatment of the Gary Gilmore case in the 1979 novel The Executioner's Song and the 1998 execution of Karla Faye Tucker a convicted murderer who became a born again Christian on death row In the concluding chapter Boudreau examines contemporary writers musicians actors and other artists who are using their artistic media to influence official policies of states that permit capital punishment By examining these neglected texts Boudreau brings to light a compelling story about ordinary Americans fighting an entrenched legal system at times of great national crisis
