The author presents intervention methods in a system of least prompts followed by information on each area of language and literacy. Generalization is foremost throughout the text. The authors link solid play-based research to specific developmentally appropriate practices. By combining these two areas, the text demonstrates that academic learning and play activities are highly compatible and that children can and do develop academic skills through play. In addition, the text focuses on socio-dramatic play, a recently acknowledged essential aspect of child-initiated play interactions. It provides specific strategies that link these interactive behaviors with the early academic skills needed for the initial primary grades.
