An Analysis of Travel Fraud Sarah L. Barthel,2000

The Call To Social Work Craig W. LeCroy,2002-02-19 The life narratives voices or actual experiences contained in this book reflect the spiritual awakenings desires to make a difference in the quality of life and the day to day realities of social workers in action These narratives offer contemporary insights and beg the question Why were you called to this profession The passion for social justice and meaningful activities the dedication to compassion and the commitment to building community connections and healing journeys are only a few of the motivational themes that emerge from this book Paula Allen Meares University of Michigan The Call to Social Work is based on a simple question What can we learn by listening to the stories about the work of the social worker The result is a collection of passionate stories told in vivid detail about social workers efforts to contribute to compassion and justice in the world to pursue social transformations and to provide a vision for a better way of living Providing students and those interested in social work with a glimpse of what it is like to do social work or to be a social worker the book shows why people become social workers and what meaning they derive from their work

Interviewing Nigel Fielding,2003-02-24 The aim of this collection is to bring together all of the key published articles on interviewing It addresses the philosophy of interview methods and its epistemological foundations the ethics of interview research and the criteria for assessing interview based research Covering both interviewing in quantitative research such as the survey method and qualitative research in all its many form this is a comprehensive study of this major research method

Doing Interviews Svend Brinkmann,2018 This is a concise introduction to the richness and scope of interviewing in social science research teaching the craft of interview research with practical hands on guidance Incorporating discussion of the wide variety of methods in interview based research and the different approaches to reading the data this book will help you to navigate the broad field of qualitative research with confidence and get out there and start collecting your data Publisher s website

Bounded Rationality in Decision-making Helle Nielsen,2009 Challenging standard economic models this book shows how farmers tend to use cognitive shortcuts and how professional pride frequently trumps profit considerations when farmers make decisions about fertilizers and other types of decisions This indicates that environmental regulation based on economic incentives may not work as effectively as economic theory and ex ante policy analyses would have it Rather than assuming that regulations respond to incentive based policies this book examines the ways in which they do which is rare in the policy making literature Furthermore the book demonstrates in a real world setting how bounded rationality plays out whereas bounded rationality in decision making has typically been studied in a laboratory setting The book contains a comprehensive and comparative review of rational and bounded rationality models of behavior It explores concepts developed in books such as Administrative Behaviour by Herbert Simon and A Behavioural Theory of the Firm by Cyert and March and it reviews their implications for economic theory and environmental policy Empirically the book examines the responses of farmers in Denmark to fertilizer regulation and the decision processes they go through regarding fertilizer levels Fertilizer regulation builds on economically optimal levels and therefore offers a rational standard against which to compare actual decisions on fertilizer levels This lends the study a significant methodological advantage and it represents a novel approach to the study of rationality It combines quantitative analysis of fertilizer practices among Danish farmers over more than 10 years with qualitative interviews These are compared with analysis other types of decisions showing that decision processes and the weight assigned to economic considerations varies by type of decisions

Discourse in Educational and Social Research Margaret MacLure,2003

The book makes the case for discursive literacy in research While its primary allegiances are to poststructuralism and deconstruction it draws from a wide range of disciplines including interaction sociology feminist ethnography literary theory critical discourse analysis and art history What holds the book together is the persistent question how to do educational research and social research within a crisis of representation that has unsettled the relationship between words and worlds

Interviewing II Nigel Fielding,2009 Interviewing has a strong claim to be the most widely practised social science research method In this work Nigel Fielding an acknowledged expert in the field brings together a set of contemporary readings
