Practical Marine Surveying Harry Phelps, 1889 Practical Marine Surveying (Classic Reprint) Harry Phelps, 2017-11-22

Excerpt from Practical Marine Surveying The need of a suitable text book on Marine Surveying for use at the Naval Academy has been felt for several years by the officers engaged in teaching that subject Having been engaged exclusively in surveying work for six years previous to my assignment to duty at the Naval Academy I was requested by the Head of Department of Astronomy Navigation and Surveying to prepare a text book on Marine Surveying to take the place of the one then in use After considerable thought I agreed to undertake the task and the present volume is the result and it is earnestly hoped that it may be of value not only as a text book for the Academy but to others who may be without experience in surveying work be used in nautical surveys for running in shore line and with very accurate results though at the expense of time The plane table comprises a drawing board tripod head and tripod and alidade The board is made of well seasoned wood carefully constructed in panels to prevent warping and with its upper surface perfectly plane and has three brass sockets on its under side set at the vertices of an equilateral triangle and equally distant from the centre of the board by which it is secured by screws to the tripod head The tripod head is of brass and consists of two plates similar to the azimuth plates of a theodolite having clamp and tangent screw but no graduations
