Introduction Factors Influencing Employee Retention Shahtaj Yousuf, 2019 The purpose of this study is to explain the factors that help in retaining employees in IT and banking industry These factors include performance appraisals training and development and workplace environment It is important to learn how different organizations use these variables as tools to keep their employees satisfied and preserved In order to carry out this research a count of 120 questionnaires were distributed among the respective officials in various IT companies and banks SPSS software was used to analyse the received data to find the relationship between employee retention and these three factors The study explains that some variables such as performance appraisal training and development and work environment largely affect the rate of employee retention Results showed that performance appraisal has a significantly more impact on the retention rate of the employees working in IT sector whereas in banking sector training and development has more influence on retention rate And through conducting a survey from employees working in these sectors it is verified that banking and IT industries are also focusing on employee retention management The academic implication of this research is that academicians should introduce the separate course of employee retention or retention management for the students of HR major as this area is gaining attention of not only researchers but also of corporate world practitioners And the practical implication of this research includes the importance of employee retention in the local and global competitive market The practitioners must understand the worth of retention factors so that they can compete nationally and globally by effectively implementing them in retention strategies They must work out for their employees as employees are the organization's prior customers and satisfied employees can satisfy the organization's customers

Employee Retention and Development Daniel E. Wald,2020 Retaining a skilled workforce can often times be a challenge for any organization While several factors play key roles in retention it is important that an organization understand the factors that contribute to their own retention issues Each company organization or industry faces challenges internally and externally that determine how well they can retain their employees The first step as with most issues is to determine the causes for voluntary employee separation Employees leave organizations for varying reasons Some may leave for better pay and benefits advancement opportunities or a poor organizational culture This study examined the factors that were leading to high employee turnover at Company XYZ Company XYZ is a pseudonym for a Midwestern company referenced in this study Although the company had experienced a stable workforce prior to the 2008 Great Recession they began experiencing high turnover from 2016 through March 2020 The study conducted in March 2020 included a literature review of retention factors an employee survey and analysis and recommendations was presented to management and ownership for their consideration

Study of Information Technology Employee Retention Rick Beebe,2001 The Factors Impacting Employee Retention Mohammad Dawood Al-Shalarchi,2022 Objectives One of the biggest challenges organizations face is employee retention and turnover This study aims to analyze the main factors that affect employee retention at private sector organizations in the Kurdistan Region of Iraq KRI This paper also discusses the importance of retention and what employees are influenced and motivated by to stay in the given organizations and what should be provided to retain the employees These may include both intrinsic and extrinsic factors Methods The collection of primary data from questionnaires distributed among a sample size of 101 employees from private organizations as well as secondary data from journals and publications was carried out The data was collected with the use of purposive sampling and stratified sampling method and analyzed through SPSS Findings The study showed that there were a number of main factors that play a role in employee turnover and that a number of elements heavily impact turnover rates within the region. Factors such as employee-employer relationship, compensation, and job security are examples that may influence retention levels. Conclusion: The results showed that several factors play a role in employee turnover and that a number of elements heavily impact turnover rates within the region. The study also showed the importance of retention and how organizations can benefit from retaining their employees. Theoretical Implications: The study will pave the way for other researchers to carry out further studies regarding job retention and the importance it has on organizations. Although several researches have been carried out amongst organizations within the private sector, job retention is a fairly rare concern, especially in the KRI. Practical Implications: Managers and private organizations in the region may use this dissertation as a guideline to further comprehend the influence and consequences of job retention and job turnover respectively. By studying this dissertation, private organizations can potentially widen and broaden their strengths and increase employee loyalty, as well as eliminate any obstacles that may disturb their employees and influence their decisions to stay or leave.

Impact of Training on Employee Satisfaction and Employee Retention Sandra Salam Sader, 2014. This study is an attempt to reveal the impact of training on employee retention and employee satisfaction. The research paper discusses the results of a survey conducted on 60 employees in the telecommunication industry. Questionnaires have been distributed. Data gathered discuss the outcomes of trainings in terms of employee satisfaction, recognition, empowerment, competencies, compensation, and retention. The results showed the majority of respondents displaying affirmative reaction towards training. Therefore, findings demonstrate the significant impact of training on these subjects. SPSS has been used in this study with highlights on reliability analysis, descriptive statistics, and multiple regression models.

A Study of Restructuring and Employee Retention Mary Fleming, Mercy College (Dobbs Ferry, N.Y.), 1999. Investigation of the Effects of Employee Engagement and Affective Commitment on Retention. Basel Al-Jabari, 2017. In today's business climate, attracting and retaining the best employees are two major challenges to organizational managers. Two factors important for increasing employee retention are affective commitment (AC) and employee engagement (EE). This study investigated the effects of AC and EE, the study independent variables, on employee retention, the study dependent variable, using self-report methodology in a cross-sectional sample of 244 employees from the education, hospitality, media services, and technology industries. Demographic characteristics of the study sample were tested as moderators of the AC-retention and EE-retention relationships. Self-report data were obtained from an online survey that measured demographic characteristics, i.e., gender, age, ethnicity, level of education, pay type, years at current organization, and years of overall work experience. AC, i.e., employee emotional commitment to his or her organization; EE, i.e., employee engagement within his or her organization in terms of OCB, job satisfaction, and self-efficacy; and employee retention, i.e., the intention to remain employed within the organization for up to 5 years, up to 10 years, and through retirement. Results of this study provide strong empirical support that AC and EE are significant positive predictors of employee retention, measured as employee intention to remain employed within the organization up to 5 years up to 10 years and through retirement The effects of demographic characteristics tested as moderators of the ACretention and EE retention relationships also provide empirical support that an employee s years of employment at his organization moderates the positive effect of AC and EE on retention through retirement such that employees with 15 years of employment at their organization report higher AC and EE Additionally the results provide empirical support that an employee s level of education moderates the positive effect of EE on retention through retirement as evidenced by higher EE scores in participants with more education Recommendations are made to increase retention by increasing AC and EE For example recommendations are made to increase AC by promoting organizational citizenship in the organization optimizing HR practices aimed at job characteristics e g flexible work schedule compensation and optimizing supervisor support and leadership style Recommendations are also made to increase EE by talent management e g HR policies and procedures that address employee performance such as training mentoring and leadership style

Young,2017 The main focus of this report is to give a holistic view on various practices that the John de la Howe School should adopt to keep the level of employee retention and commitment high in the work environment It will provide useful information gathered from agency employees about their employment experiences as it relates to retention and commitment This study will also serve as a guide to other agencies regarding their employee retention should they choose to use it A Study on Employee Retention in a Construction Company Siew Yee Chew,2012 Minimizing Employee Turnover by Focusing on the New Hire Process Anthony T. Russo,2000-10 This dissertation summarizes research that focused on the new hire process for a targeted population within the Computer Telephony Industry The primary objective of this research was to determine how to build and maintain an effective employee employer partnership that helped ensure employee loyalty The research design was taken from the theoretical framework of Vroom s Work Motivation model adapted using Dunnette s work with relevant job features along with Scott s theories on Jablin s model of organization wide communications The study examined survey responses for importance and expectation realization ratings of 15 job features given by 150 newly hired individuals at their new hire orientation and then at the individual s eight month anniversary In addition focus group sessions were conducted and statistical analyses were performed The study found that overall employees had stronger feelings about certain job feature importance than job feature expectation certainty The results showed that employees who remained with the company exhibited a change in importance and initial expectation set This flexibility was demonstrated in the trade offs that employees made between attributes of intrinsic value The Chi Square results on intent to leave showed that the level of overall satisfaction is significantly related to intentions of leaving Review of the exit interview data reveals that the job feature of being a Good Boss was the deciding factor in the individual s decision to leave the business Overall respondents who voluntarily resigned or who remained with the organization based their final decision on how effective the supervisor subordinate communications and organizational citizenship capabilities of the boss were perceived The findings support Jablin and Scott s research investigating organizational communication relationships while expanding Dunnette s definitions of critical job features In conclusion the findings also validated that Vroom s expectancy theory can be used when predicting behaviors in situations where choices are made such as whether to expect an employee to remain or leave an organization
