Accounting For Environmental Cost Use:

The Routledge Companion to Accounting Education Richard M.S. Wilson,2014-04-29 Many enquiries into the state of accounting education training undertaken in several countries over the past 40 years have warned that it must change if it is to be made more relevant to students to the accounting profession and to stakeholders in the wider community This book's overriding aim is to provide a comprehensive and authoritative source of reference which defines the domain of accounting education training and which provides a critical overview of the state of this domain including emerging and cutting edge issues as a foundation for facilitating improved accounting education training scholarship and research in order to enhance the educational base of accounting practice The Routledge Companion to Accounting Education highlights the key drivers of change whether in the field of practice on the one hand e.g increased regulation globalisation risk and complexity or from developments in the academy on the other e.g pressures to embed technology within the classroom or to meet accreditation criteria on the other Thirty chapters written by leading scholars from around the world are grouped into seven themed sections which focus on different facets of their respective themes including student curriculum pedagogic and assessment considerations

Handbook of Sustainable Development Giles Atkinson,Simon Dietz,Eric Neumayer,Matthew Agarwala,2014-09-26 This timely and important Handbook takes stock of progress made in our understanding of what sustainable development actually is and how it can be measured and achieved

Economic Influences on the Development of Accounting in Firms George J. Staubus,2021-12-29 A view of accounting as a practical activity a service function whose value depends on its adaptation to the environment in which it serves is a good place to start this book originally published in 1996 While arts such as music and drama can be said to serve human needs their development presumably cannot be explained primarily by reference to the economic features of their environments By contrast an economic service function such as accounting develops in response to economic features of its environment The objective of this book is to stimulate interest in explaining the development of specific features of accounting as we know it in the firms that are so important to the economies of Western industrialized countries by reference to the economic features of those firms The emphasis in this work is on the influence of economic features of the firm in the development of accounting

Greening the Accounts Sandrine Simon,John L. R. Proops,2000 The authors first provide an overview of the history of national accounting and its place in the debate concerning sustainability In particular they address the social role that accounts play the relationship of national accounts to economic traditions and the relationship between green national accounts and ecological economics They go on to describe issues related to the history of green accounts and the methodologies adopted and discuss the Dutch experience with the NAMEA system the use of input output analysis in national accounting and the conceptual issues raised by green accounting Finally the authors show how green accounts are being constructed and used in various countries by both national governments and corporate businesses The book features case studies of green national accounting in Europe Africa and Canada the UK experience in establishing green accounts and the process of greening business accounts The State of Food and Agriculture 2024 FAO,2024-11-08 Uncovering the true cost of food is the first step in making agrifood systems more inclusive resilient and sustainable As The State of Food and Agriculture 2023 revealed agrifood systems activities generate significant benefits for society but also have negative impacts on economic social and environmental sustainability The quantified hidden costs of agrifood systems amount to around 10 percent of global gross domestic product Therefore strategic action is necessary and all agrifood systems actors from producers and agribusinesses to consumers and governments have a crucial role to play While transforming agrifood systems would yield a net global gain the benefits and costs would be unevenly distributed among stakeholders and countries over time The State of Food and Agriculture 2024 builds on the findings of the 2023 edition delving deeper into the use of true cost accounting assessments of agrifood systems and identifying policy interventions aimed at transformation Using updated global datasets the report confirms previous estimates of the quantified hidden costs of agrifood systems and provides a detailed breakdown of the hidden costs associated with unhealthy dietary patterns and non communicable diseases for 156 countries These findings are analysed through the lens of six agrifood systems categories to take into account various outcomes and hidden costs that require different policy interventions Case studies offering in depth assessments of country local and value chain contexts illustrate the economic social and environmental impacts of current practices to guide policy interventions Crucial to all contexts is the need for inclusive stakeholder consultations to inform interventions and reconcile power imbalances and trade offs The Accounting Historians Journal ,2000 Economic Titles/abstracts ,1982 Navigating the Ecological Transition Hugues Bouthinon-Dumas,Arijit Chatterjee,Bernard Leca,2024-12-09 The transition towards sustainability is now a major issue that has taken centre stage in public debate policy circles scientific forums and business roundtables Higher education institutions focusing on educating tomorrow s managers and leaders and on business practices are doubly challenged by this development On the one hand they must be accountable to their internal stakeholders who strongly identify with the new environmental awakening On the other hand because of their status as research institutions they must provide answers and propose solutions to face this challenge which is shaping up to be the most crucial issue that humanity has had to face in the modern era In this book faculty and researchers from cole Sup rieur de Sciences conomiques et Commerciales ESSEC Business School a recognized leader among European schools of business and management provide a multi faceted perspective on the different areas that need to be considered to understand the new market dynamics during this environmental and social transition. The book identifies the obstacles that come in the way of the transformation of dominant business models and how to overcome them in order to move away from business as usual. The various chapters in this work offer a vast diversity of approaches that address the paradigm shift towards sustainability, providing insights for both business and higher education. The book includes chapters from seven different departments at ESSEC: Management, Accounting and Management Control, Economics, Information Systems, Decision Sciences, and Statistics, Marketing, Operations, Management, and Public and Private Policy. Research based and combining theory with practice, this thought-provoking book will be welcomed by academics, institutions, and professionals alike wishing to gain perspectives on the challenges of the transition towards a sustainable society.
