

AP LAB INVESTIGATION 5 PHOTOSYNTHESIS

What factors affect the rate of photosynthesis in living leaves?

■ BACKGROUND

Photosynthesis fuels ecosystems and replenishes the Earth's atmosphere with oxygen. Like all enzyme-driven reactions, the rate of photosynthesis can be measured by either the disappearance of substrate or the accumulation of product (or by-products).

The general summary equation for photosynthesis is

What could you measure to determine the rate of photosynthesis?

- Production of O_2 (How many moles of O_2 are produced for one mole of sugar synthesized?), or,
- Consumption of CO_2 (How many moles of CO_2 are consumed for every mole of sugar synthesized?)

In this investigation, you will use a system that measures the accumulation of oxygen.

Because the spongy mesophyll layer of leaves (shown in Figure 1) is normally infused with gases (O_2 and CO_2), leaves — or disks cut from leaves — normally float in water. What would you predict about the density of the leaf disk if the gases are drawn from the spongy mesophyll layer by using a vacuum and replaced with water? How will that affect whether or not the leaf floats? If the leaf disk is placed in a solution with an alternate source of carbon dioxide in the form of bicarbonate ions, then photosynthesis can occur in a sunken leaf disk. As photosynthesis proceeds, oxygen accumulates in the air spaces of the spongy mesophyll, and the leaf disk will once again become buoyant and rise in a column of water. Therefore, the rate of photosynthesis
