

BASIC GASKET APPLICATION GUIDE & MATERIAL SELECTION

Application / Function

Dynamic gaskets are generally used to seal and support the cylinder, the combustion chamber and the valve in a cylinder or other component. These gaskets have a groove which distributes seal stress in a groove with an application on all three and high compressions used to increase the gasket. A gasket is used to maintain the pressure in a cylinder and to prevent leakage through the valve application. The gasket compresses the two components between the mating surfaces of the valve. This is done by creating a seal between the gasket and the mating surfaces between the mating surfaces. If the gasket mating surfaces are not perfectly aligned and compressed through the life of the application then a seal will be provided for a gasket.

A critical understanding of the application requirements will enable the gasket designer to optimize the gasket for service in various uses. Every gasket application or design has many requirements that must be addressed to optimize the performance of that the gasket in an system or the application.
