GRAMMAR

THE VERB

The verb is the most important word in a sentence. It tells us what is happening and who is doing it. Verbs can be used in many different ways, and it is important to know the rules for using them correctly.

Verb forms

Verbs are used in different forms, depending on the tense and the voice. The most common forms are the infinitive, the present participle, the past participle, and the past tense.

Verb agreement

The verb must agree with the subject of the sentence. This means that the verb must be in the same tense and voice as the subject.

Verb phrases

Verb phrases are groups of words that function as a single verb. They can include auxiliary verbs, modal verbs, and main verbs.

SENTENCES

A sentence is a group of words that expresses a complete thought. Sentences can be simple, compound, or complex.

Simple sentences

A simple sentence has one independent clause. It can be written in four basic sentence patterns: subject-verb, subject-verb-object, subject-verb-complement, and subject-verb-object-complement.

Compound sentences

A compound sentence has two or more independent clauses joined by a coordinating conjunction (and, but, or, so, yet, for, nor).

Complex sentences

A complex sentence has one independent clause and one or more dependent clauses. The dependent clause is introduced by a subordinating conjunction (because, although, when, if, since, as, after, before, until, while, once, unless, even though, in case, as long as, as soon as, so long as, in order that, so that, inasmuch as, inasmuch as, inasmuch as, inasmuch as).

PUNCTUATION

Punctuation is used to clarify the meaning of a sentence and to indicate the end of a sentence. The most common punctuation marks are the period, the comma, the semicolon, the colon, the apostrophe, the hyphen, the dash, the exclamation point, and the question mark.

Period

The period is used to end a sentence. It is written as a small dot.

Comma

The comma is used to separate items in a list, to separate clauses in a compound sentence, and to separate a clause from the rest of the sentence.

Semicolon

The semicolon is used to separate two independent clauses that are closely related in meaning.

Colon

The colon is used to introduce a list, a quotation, or a definition.

Apostrophe

The apostrophe is used to show possession and to form contractions.

Hyphen

The hyphen is used to join two words together to form a compound word.

Dash

The dash is used to indicate a break in a sentence or to set off a phrase.

Exclamation point

The exclamation point is used to express strong emotion or emphasis.

Question mark

The question mark is used to end a question.

Verb agreement

1. She (be) very happy when she (get) the job.

2. The team (play) very well in the game.

3. He (run) a marathon every year.
