Peacock, 2013-07-19 Jonathan Lethem is the first full length study dedicated to the work of an exciting genre busting contemporary writer with an increasingly high profile in American literature Examining all of Lethem's novels as well as a number of his short fictions essays and critical works this study shows how the author's prolific output his restlessness and his desire always to be subverting literary forms and genres are consistent with his interest in subcultural identities The human need to break off into small groupings subcultures or miniature utopias is mirrored in the critical tendency to enforce generic boundaries To break down the boundaries between genres then is partly to make a nonsense of critical distinctions between high and low literature and partly to reflect the wider need to recognise difference to appreciate that other people no matter how outlandish and alien they may appear share similar desires experiences and problems With this in mind James Peacock argues that Lethem's experiments with genre are not merely games or elaborate literary jokes but ethical necessities particularly when viewed in the light of the losses and traumas that shadow all of his writing Jonathan Lethem therefore makes an important contribution not just to Lethem studies but also to debates about genre and its position in postmodern or post postmodern literature It will be of interest to all scholars and students of contemporary American writing as well as those interested in genre fiction and literature's relationship with subcultures Brooklyn Crime Novel Jonathan

The City Since 9/11 Keith Wilhite, 2016-03-04 Charting the intersection of aesthetic representation and the material conditions of urban space The City Since 9/11 posits that the contemporary metropolis provides a significant context for reassessing theoretical concerns related to narrative identity home and personal precarity In the years since the September 11 attacks writers and filmmakers have explored urban spaces as contested sites shaped by the prevailing discourses of neoliberalism homeland security and the war on terror but also haunted by an absence in the landscape that registers loss and prefigures future menace In works of literature film and television the city emerges as a paradoxical space of permanence and vulnerability and a convergence point for anxieties about globalization structural inequality and apocalyptic violence Building on previous scholarship addressing trauma and the spectacle of terror the contributors also draw upon works of philosophy urban studies and postmodern geography to theorize how literary and visual representations expose the persistent conflicts that arise as cities rebuild in the shadow of past ruins Their essays advance new lines of argument that clarify art s role in contemporary debates about spatial practices gentrification cosmopolitanism memory and history nostalgia the uncanny and the abject postmodern virtuality the politics of realism and the economic and social life of cities The book offers fresh readings of familiar post 9 11 novels such as Jonathan Safran Foer s Extremely Loud Incredibly Close but it also considers works by Teju Cole Joseph O Neill Silver Krieger Colum McCann Ronald Sukenick Jonathan Lethem Thomas Pynchon Colson Whitehead Paul Auster William Gibson Amitav Ghosh and Katherine Boo In addition The City Since 9 11 includes essays on the films Children of Men Hugo and the adaptation of Extremely Loud Incredibly Close chapters on the television series The Bridge The Killing and The Wire and an analysis of Michael Arad s Reflecting Absence and the 9 11 Memorial

Narrative, Perception, and the Embodied Mind Lilla Farmasi, 2022-09-02 This book encourages cross disciplinary dialogues toward introducing a new framework for neuro narratology expanding on established theory within cognitive narratology to more fully encompass the different faculties involved in the reading process To investigate narrative cognition the book traces the ways in which cognitive patterns of embodiment and the neural connections that comprise them in the reading process are translated into patterns in narrative fiction Drawing theories of episodic memories and nonvisual perception of space Farmasi draws on theories of episodic memories and nonvisual perception of space in analyzing a range of narratives from twentieth century prose The first set of analyses shines a light on perception and emotion in narrative discourses and the construction of storyworlds while the second foregrounds the reader s experience The volume makes the case for the fact that narratives need to be understood as dynamic elements of the interaction between mind body and environment generating new insights and inspiring further research This book will appeal to scholars interested in narrative
