Mergers, Merger Control, and Remedies John Kwoka, 2015 A comprehensive analysis of merger outcomes based on all empirical studies with an assessment of the effectiveness of antitrust policy toward mergers In recent decades antitrust investigations and cases targeting mergers including those involving Google Ticketmaster and much of the domestic airline industry have reshaped industries and changed business practices profoundly And yet there has been a relative dearth of detailed evaluations of the effects of mergers and the effectiveness of merger policy In this book John Kwoka a noted authority on industrial organization examines all reliable empirical studies of the effect of specific mergers and develops entirely new information about the policies and remedies of antitrust agencies regarding these mergers Combined with data on outcomes this policy information enables analysis of and creates new insights into mergers merger policies and the effectiveness of remedies in preventing anticompetitive outcomes After an overview of mergers merger policy and a common approach to merger analysis Kwoka offers a detailed analysis of the studied mergers relevant policies and chosen remedies Kwoka finds first and foremost that most of the studied mergers resulted in competitive harm usually in the form of higher product prices but also with respect to various non price outcomes Other important findings include the fact that joint ventures and code sharing arrangements do not result in such harm and that policies intended to remedy mergers especially conduct remedies are not generally effective in restraining price increases The book s uniquely comprehensive analysis advances our understanding of merger decisions and policies suggests policy improvements for competition agencies and remedies and points the way to future research

Platform Power and Policy in Transforming Television Markets

Tom Evens, Karen Donders, 2018-04-04 This book seeks to investigate platform power in the multi platform era and unravels the evolution of power structures in the TV industry as a result of platformisation Multiple TV platforms and modes of distribution are competing not necessarily in a zero sum game to control the market In the volume the contributors work to extend established platform theory to the TV industry which has become increasingly organised as a platform economy The book helps to understand how platform power arises in the industry how it destabilises international relations and how it is used in the global media value chain Platform Power and Policy in Transforming Television Markets contributes to the growing field of media industry studies and draws on scholarly work in communication political economy and public policy whilst providing a deeper insight into the transformation of the TV industry from an economic political and consumer level Avoiding a merely legal analysis from a technology driven perspective the book provides a critical analysis of the dominant modes of power within the evolving structures of the global TV value chain The Antitrust Revolution John E.

Kwoka, Lawrence J. White, 2018 European Union Competition Policy versus Industrial Competitiveness Hikaru

Yoshizawa, 2021-11-10 The book examines whether EU competition policy is applied fairly and consistently to EU and non EU firms despite persistent political pressure from member states for a relaxation of the rules and deals with the dilemma of regional organisations in the global political economy Focussing on the EU s desire to achieve balance between the promotion of market competition and the enhancement of international competitiveness the book explores the validity of its attempts successfully to ensure a stringent competition policy which is nationality blind and comparatively strict Finally it shows that the competition competitiveness dilemma remains unresolved because the EU s capability to set global regulatory standards is constrained by competition and the need to engage in multilateral forums such as the WTO and the International Competition Network This book will be of key interest to scholars and students of European Union studies EU competition law and policy EU external action and more broadly to global governance international political economy and international relations The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license The Antitrust Revolution John E.

Kwoka, 1994 The Antitrust Revolution Lawrence J. White, 1989 A Gap in the Enforcement of Article 82 Ioannis Kokkoris, 2009 The European Commission has acknowledged and respected in Regulation 1/2003 the ability of the Member States to apply stricter rules than Article 82 There are some types of conduct that cannot be addressed by Article 82 because the undertakings involved are not dominant One relates to conduct by non dominant firms against other firms in weaker bargaining positions A second type of conduct and the focus of this book relates to the anti competitive conducts that non dominant firms may adopt towards consumers e.g. price discrimination excessive pricing etc This book focuses on instances where non dominant firms have the ability to behave independently of customers and competitors and adopt conducts which will induce consumer harm The Commission cannot address anti competitive conduct of non dominant firms which induce significant consumer harm This has resulted from the application of the dominance concept and from the dependence of a finding of a dominant firm on the market share of the firm This book illustrates that applying the concept of dominance in that way means that a non dominant firm in a differentiated market can adopt anti competitive conducts and not be deterred
