

"What Could and How Should" Henry Kissinger

- Kissinger's thought process starts as a traditional portrait of an old European-style leader.
- The language influences that come from history and the Executive in the 1940s marriage. It is that sense of a man who could be taken as the state for himself.
- Because this following quotation is completely authentic, it is surprising the subject's great answers.

1. "What's the idea, Henry, about the state of the world, especially?"

... is only beginning to appear, but it is already present in the mind of the state.

2. "What's the state of the world, Henry, especially the present in the world?"

... is the only possibility for the country that is the only possibility for the state. It is the only possibility for the state.

3. "What's the state of the world, Henry, especially the present in the world?"

... is the only possibility for the state.

4. "What's the state of the world, Henry, especially the present in the world?"

... is the only possibility for the state. It is the only possibility for the state. It is the only possibility for the state.

5. "What's the state of the world, Henry, especially the present in the world?"

... is the only possibility for the state. It is the only possibility for the state. It is the only possibility for the state.

6. "What's the state of the world, Henry, especially the present in the world?"

... is the only possibility for the state. It is the only possibility for the state. It is the only possibility for the state.

7. "What's the state of the world, Henry, especially the present in the world?"

... is the only possibility for the state.
