genetic groupings in the region and summarizing some of the significant features and issues relating to language contact In the core of the volume the presentation of the languages is divided into five contact areas which include i eastern Anatolia and northwestern Iran ii northern Iraq iii western Iran iv the Caspian region and south Azerbaijan and v the Caucasian rim and southern Black Sea coast Each section contains chapters devoted to the languages of the area preceded by an introductory section that highlights significant contact phenomena The volume is rounded off by an appendix with basic lexical items across a selection of the languages The handbook features contributions by Erik Anonby Denise Bailey Christiane Bulut David Erschler Geoffrey Haig Geoffrey Khan Rene Lacroix Parvin Mahmoudveysi Hrach Martirosyan Ludwig Paul Stephan Proch zka Laurentia Schreiber Don Stilo Mortaza Taheri Ardali Christina van der Wal Anonby The Bloomsbury Companion to Historical Linguistics Silvia Luraghi, Vit Bubenik, 2013-03-07 Originally published as the Continuum Companion to Historical Linguistics this book brings together a number of leading scholars who provide a combination of different approaches to current and new issues in historical linguistics while supplying an exhaustive and up to date coverage of sub fields traditionally regarded as central to historical linguistics research The editors aim to build a solid background for further discussion and to indicate directions for new research on relevant open questions The book includes coverage of key terms a list of resources and sections on history of research methodology phonology morphology grammatical categories syntax grammaticalization semantics etymology language contact sociolinguistics causes of language change It is a complete resource for researchers working on historical linguistics Orientalia Suecana Erik Gren, 2009 Computational Grammar Resources for Indo-Iranian Languages, 2011 Grammar of the Persian Language William I Jones, 1828 A grammar of the Persian language Muḥammad Ibrâhîm, 1841 A Grammar of the Persian Language William Jones, 1801 A Minimalist Approach to Scrambling Simin Karimi, 2008-08-22 This study addresses the problems scrambling languages provide for the existing syntactic theories by analyzing the interaction of semantic and discourse functional factors with syntactic properties of word order in this type of languages and by discussing the implications of this interaction for Universal Grammar Three interrelated goals are carefully followed in this work The first is to analyze the syntactic structure of Persian a language which exhibits free word order With this analysis the author has accounted for the relative order of categorized expressions the motivation for their possible rearrangements and the grammatical results of those reorderings In this respect a broad range of major syntactic phenomena including object shift Case Extended Projection Principle EPP binding and scope interpretation of quantifiers interrogative phrases adverbial phrases and negative elements are examined This monograph is the first major theoretical work ever published on Persian and therefore fills the existing gap by providing insight into the syntactic structure of this language The second goal is to connect these insights to similar linguistic properties in languages in which scrambling occurs e g German Dutch Hindi Russian Japanese and Korean and to provide a deeper understanding of this group of genetically diverse but typologically related languages The final and principal goal is to situate the results of this work within the framework of the Minimalist Program MP The investigations in this study indicate that scrambling is not an optional rule and that certain principles of MP such as the Minimal Link Condition are only seemingly violated in these languages Furthermore it is shown that careful analysis of scrambling with respect to binding and scope relations and a reanalysis of the properties of A and A movements cast some doubts on the relevance of a typology of movement in natural language Persian Grammar Gernot L.
