Magnetic resonance-guided focused ultrasound (MRgFUS) Francesca Pistoia,Michele Tinazzi,Marc N. Gallay,2025-09-25

Magnetic Resonance guided Focused Ultrasound MRgFUS is an innovative method of brain surgery that doesn't require opening the skull or penetrating the brain. Since the first study using MRgFUS in functional neurosurgery for neuropathic pain was published in 2009, there has been significant progress worldwide. The European CE mark for using the transcranial focused ultrasound system ExAblate Neuro (Insightec Ltd) to treat neurological disorders in the brain, including essential tremor, Parkinson's disease-related tremor, and neuropathic pain, was awarded in 2012. In 2016, the US Food and Drug Administration (FDA) approved it for the treatment of medically refractory essential tremors or Parkinson-related tremors. Since then, the worldwide adoption of MRgFUS as a new treatment modality against tremors has been incredibly fast. Indeed, compared to other techniques that involve cerebral penetration, MRgFUS has high targeting accuracy and a low side effect profile. With targeting accuracy within one millimeter and no brain shift, this technique reduces the risk of placing a thermolesion away from the intended target. Additionally, intraoperative clinical assessments can be performed on awake patients to assess the clinical efficacy and potential side effects.

Medical evacuation in emergencies World Health Organization, 2025-07-04. In times of crisis, whether due to disasters, armed conflicts, or other health emergencies, the timely and well-coordinated evacuation of patients is a critical component of emergency response. Past emergencies have demonstrated the urgent need for standardized approaches to both pre-hospital support for medical evacuation (medevac) and medevac operations themselves. The absence of clear protocols, coupled with delays, miscommunication, and inadequate care during transit, can severely impact patient outcomes. Establishing standardized procedures ensures that medical evacuations are conducted safely, efficiently, and in coordination with the broader health care and emergency response system. This guidance aims to provide a comprehensive framework for the safe and context-adapted coordination of clinical care, operations support, and logistics relevant to governments, national authorities (including ministries of health, civil protection, and civil defence), national and international Emergency Medical Teams (EMTs), nongovernmental organizations (NGOs), Emergency Medical Services (EMS), and other key stakeholders operating in the medevac space or wishing to build this kind of capacity. It defines minimum standards and recommendations for the development and classification of respective specialized care teams (SCTs). This is particularly relevant for contexts without pre-existing or functional prehospital or medevac systems and can support country-level capacity building, regional and sub-regional planning, and the development of SCTs.

High Reliability Organizations, Third Edition Cynthia A. Oster, Jane S. Braaten, 2025-10-02. Oster and Braaten outline the history of safety science and high reliability challenges and barriers in harm prevention in clinical practice and the importance of health equity. This book is recommended reading for those who wish to strive for superb quality and safety in healthcare. Ann Scott Blouin, PhD, RN, LFACHE, Assistant Professor, Loyola University Chicago; Marcella Niehoff, School of Nursing Board Secretary, Institute for Healthcare Improvement; President, PSQ Advisory; retired Former Executive Vice President, The Joint Commission.
