paper from the year 2013 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies Literature grade 1 3 University of Mannheim language English abstract Butler states in an interview that she responded to a present sense of shame for older African American generations who reputedly showed humility towards their white masters Kindred was a kind of reaction to some of the things going on during the sixties when people were feeling ashamed of or more strongly angry with their parents for not having improved things faster and I wanted to take a person from today and send that person back to slavery
The second chapter focuses on how the problem of historiography of slavery is depicted in Kindred The third chapter explores the relationships within the slave community as well as towards their master Jacobs suggests to better understand slavery one shall go on a southern plantation and call yourself a negro trader Then there will be no concealment and you will see and hear things that will seem to you impossible among human beings with immortal souls Butler chooses a similar way by sending Dana to the antebellum South Overall the analysis foregrounds social emotional issues according to Butler s intention I was trying to get people to feel slavery I was trying to get across the kind of emotional and psychological stones that slavery threw at people Freedom Beyond Confinement Michael Ra-Shon Hall,2021-11-16 Freedom Beyond Confinement examines the cultural history of African American travel and the lasting influence of travel on the imagination particularly of writers of literary fiction and nonfiction Using the paradox of freedom and confinement to frame the ways travel represented both opportunity and restriction for African Americans the book details the intimate connection between travel and imagination from post Reconstruction ca 1877 to the present Analysing a range of sources from the black press and periodicals to literary fiction and nonfiction the book charts the development of critical representation of travel from the foundational press and periodicals which offered African Americans crucial information on travel precautions and possibilities notably during the era of Jim Crow to the woefully understudied literary fiction that would later provide some of the most compelling and lasting portrayals of the freedoms and constraints African Americans associated with travel Travel experiences often challenging and vexed provided the raw data with which writers produced images and ideas meaningful as they learned to navigate negotiate and even challenge racialized and gendered impediments to their mobility In their writings African Americans worked to realize a vision and state of freedom informed by those often difficult experiences of mobility In telling this story the book hopes to center literary fiction in studies of travel where fiction has largely remained absent

The Freedom to Remember Angelyn Mitchell, 2002 The Freedom to Remember examines contemporary literary revisions of slavery in the United States by black women writers The narratives at the center of this book include Octavia E Butler's Kindred Sherley Anne Williams's Dessa Rose Toni Morrison's Beloved J California Cooper's Family and Lorene Cary's The Price of a Child Recent studies have investigated these works only from the standpoint of victimization Angelyn Mitchell changes the conceptualization of these narratives focusing on the theme of freedom not slavery defining these works as liberatory narratives These works create a space to problematize the slavery freedom dichotomy from which contemporary black women writers have the safe vantage point to reveal aspects of enslavement that their ancestors could not examine The nineteenth century female emancipatory narrative by contrast was written to aid the cause of abolition by revealing the unspeakable realities of slavery Mitchell shows how the liberatory narrative functions to emancipate its readers from the legacies of slavery in American society by facilitating a deeper discussion of the issues and by making them new through illumination and interrogation
