Parameter Hierarchies and Universal Grammar Ian Roberts, 2019-06-20 This book develops a minimalist approach to cross linguistic morphosyntactic variation Ian Roberts argues that the essential insight of the principles and parameters approach to variation can be maintained albeit in a somewhat different guise in the context of the minimalist programme for linguistic theory The central idea is to organize the parameters of Universal Grammar UG into hierarchies that define the ways in which properties of individually variant categories and features may act in concert A further leading idea which is consistent with the overall goal of the minimalist programme to reduce the content of UG is that the parameter hierarchies are not directly determined by UG and are instead emergent properties stemming from the interaction of the three factors in language design Cross linguistic variation in word order null subjects incorporation verb movement case alignment wh movement and negation are all analysed in the light of this approach This book represents a significant new contribution to the formal study of cross linguistic morphosyntactic variation on both the empirical and theoretical levels and will appeal to researchers and students in all areas of theoretical linguistics and comparative syntax

The Structure and Status of Pidgins and Creoles Arthur Kean Spears, Donald Winford, 1997-01-01 Destined to become a landmark work this book is devoted principally to a reassessment of the content categories boundaries and basic assumptions of pidgin and creole studies It includes revised and elaborated papers from meetings of the Society for Pidgin and Creole Linguistics in addition to commissioned papers from leading scholars in the field As a group the papers undertake this reassessment through a reevaluation of pidgin creole terminology and contact language typology Section One a requestioning of process and evolution in pidginization creolization and other language contact phenomena Section Two a reinterpretation of the sources and genesis of grammatical aspects of Saramaccan and Atlantic creoles in general Section Three a reconsideration of the status of languages defying received definitions of pidgins and creoles Section Four and analyses of aspects of grammar that shed light on the issue of what a possible creole grammar is Section Five

Experimental Approaches to the Acquisition of Information Structure Tania L. Leal, Bradley Hoot, Stavros Skopeteas, Joseph V. Casillas, Oksana Laleko, 2025-08-19 Human languages constrain the form utterances can take with constraints on grammaticality being but one example Beyond grammaticality utterances can vary in terms of their felicitousness depending on how constituents relate to the surrounding discourse context speakers communicative needs and speakers assessment of the hearers beliefs The study of information structure explores how speakers package their utterances into blocks with varying informational values formalizing these units with notions like focus background or topic These categories among others have been the subject of substantial interest and debate in linguistics generating both theoretical models and experimental studies bearing on how information structure is represented and interpreted in the minds of speakers and how particular information structural categories are encoded in the grammar However the study of how information structure is acquired is still fledgling with uneven coverage across populations and languages Similarly the wide cross linguistic variation in the use of syntactic prosodic and morphological means of its expression has been a major stumbling block in the development of a solid methodological foundation for experimental investigations As things stand the field is ripe for contributions from more varied approaches and drawing on linguistic data from under represented languages and populations

The Emergence of Hybrid Grammars Enoch Oladé Aboh,2015-08-27 Children are extremely gifted in acquiring their native languages but languages nevertheless change over time Why does this paradox exist In this study of creole languages Enoch Olad Aboh addresses this question arguing that language acquisition requires contact between different linguistic sub systems that feed into the hybrid grammars that learners develop There is no qualitative difference between a child learning their language in a multilingual environment and a child raised in a monolingual environment In both situations children learn to master multiple linguistic sub systems that are in contact and may be combined to produce new variants These new variants are part of the inputs for subsequent learners Contributing to the debate on language acquisition and change Aboh shows that language learning is always imperfect learners motivation is not to replicate the target language faithfully but to develop a system close enough to the target that guarantees successful communication and group membership

Contemporary Intellectual Property Hector MacQueen,2011 This textbook provides an account of intellectual property law The underlying policies influencing the direction of the law are explained and explored and contemporary issues facing the discipline are tackled head on The international and European dimensions are covered together with the domestic position
