

10. If you are given different frequency table, which column will be the class frequency table?

Answer:

Column 2 shows the class frequency table as it contains the class.

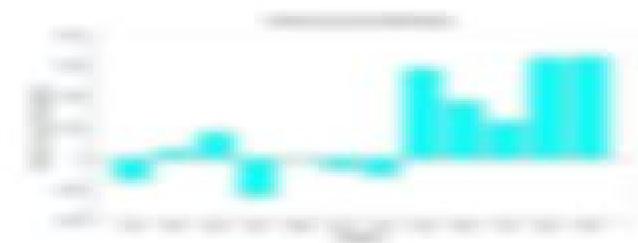

Example: The following table represents the distribution of marks obtained by the 100 boys in the 100 marks test conducted in a school. The following table represents the distribution of marks obtained by the 100 boys in the test.

Answer:

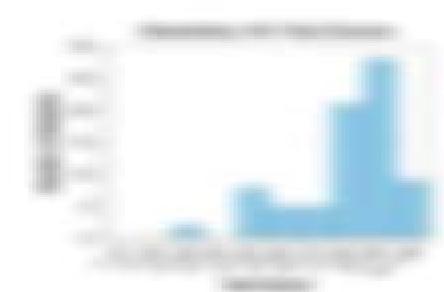

In the graph, the class of frequency table is which the length of the bar represents the number of items in each category.

Example: The following bar graph shows the number of items in each category. The length of the bar represents the number of items in each category.

Answer:

In a histogram, the length of each bar represents the frequency of the corresponding class. Therefore, the bars represent classes and their length are proportional to the number of items in each class.
