No Stop City Archizoom Associati:

The Project of Autonomy Pier Vittorio Aureli, 2008-07-04 The Project of Autonomy radically rediscusses the concept of autonomy in politics and architecture by tracing a concise and polemical argument about its history in Italy in the 1960s and early 1970s. Architect and educator Pier Vittorio Aureli analyzes the position of the Operaismo movement formed by a group of intellectuals that produced a powerful and rigorous critique of capitalism and its intersections with two of the most radical architectural urban theories of the day: Aldo Rossi's redefinition of the architecture of the city and Archizoom's No Stop City. Readers are introduced to major figures like Mario Tronti and Raniero Panzieri who have previously been little known in the English speaking world especially in an architectural context and to the political motivations behind the theories of Rossi and Archizoom. The book draws on significant new source material including recent interviews by the author and untranslated documents. PUBLISHER'S WEBSITE

Bracket 1 Mason White, Przybylski, Maya, 2010-12-15 Seeking new voices and design talent the new Bracket book series is structured around an open call for entries. Conceived as an almanac the series looks at emerging thematics in our global age that are shaping the built environment in radically significant yet often unexpected ways. Bracket 1 On Farming looks at the capacity for architecture to address ideas and issues of productive landscapes and urbanisms. Entries were selected by an international jury including Nathalie de Vries, Charles Waldheim and Michael Speaks. Once merely understood in terms of agriculture today information, energy, labour and landscape among others can be farmed. Farming harnesses the efficiency of collectivity and community. Whether cultivating land, harvesting resources, extracting energy or delegating labor, farming reveals the interdependencies of our globalized world. Simultaneously, farming represents the local gesture, the productive landscape and the alternative economy. The processes of farming are mutable, parametric and efficient. Farming is the modification of infrastructure, urbanisms, architectures and landscapes toward a privileging of production.

Planning Cities with Nature Fabiano Lemes de Oliveira, Ian Mell, 2019-02-02 This book explores novel theories, strategies and methods for re-naturing cities. It enables readers to learn from best practice and advances the current theoretical and empirical understanding in the field. The book also offers valuable insights into how planners and policymakers can apply this knowledge to their own cities and regions, exploring top-down, bottom-up and mixed mechanisms for the systemic re-naturing of planned and existing cities. There is considerable interest in naturalising cities since it can help address multiple global societal challenges and generate various benefits such as the enhancement of health and well-being, sustainable urbanisation, ecosystems and their services and resilience to climate change. This can also translate into tangible economic benefits in terms of preventing health hazards, positively affecting health-related expenditure, new job opportunities, i.e. urban farming and the regeneration of urban areas. There is thus a compelling case to investigate integrative approaches to urban and natural systems that can help cities address the social, economic and environmental needs of a growing population. How can we plan with nature? What are the models and approaches that can be used to develop more sustainable cities that provide high quality urban green spaces

Informality through Sustainability Antonino Di Raimo, Steffen Lehmann, Alessandro Melis, 2020-12-30 Informality through Sustainability explores the phenomenon of informality within urban settlements and aims to unravel the subtle links between informal settlements and sustainability Penetrating its global profile and considering urban informality through an understanding of local implications the authors collectively reveal specific correlations between sites and their local inhabitants The book opposes simplistic calls to legalise informal settlements or to view them as problems to be solved It comes at a time when common notions of informality are being increasingly challenged In 25 chapters the book presents contributions from well known scholars and practitioners whose theoretical or practical work addresses informality and sustainability at various levels from city planning and urban design to public space and architectural education Whilst previous studies on informal settlements have mainly focused on cases in developing countries approaching the topic through social cultural and material dimensions the book explores the concept across a range of contexts including former Communist countries and those in the so called Global North Contributions also explore understandings of informality at various scalar levels region precinct neighbourhood and individual building Thus this work helps reposition informality as a relational concept at various scales of urbanisation This book will be of great benefit to planners architects researchers and policymakers interested in the interplay between informality and sustainability

Design by Accident Alexandra Midal, 2023-09-26 A counterhistory and new historiography of design In Design by Accident Alexandra Midal declares the autonomy of design in and on its own terms This meticulously researched work proposes not only a counterhistory but a new historiography of design shedding light on overlooked historical landmarks and figures while reevaluating the legacies of design s established luminaries from the nineteenth century to the present Midal rejects both linear narratives of progress and the long held perception of design as a footnote to the histories of fine art and architecture By weaving critical analysis of the canon of design history and theory together with special attention to the writings of designers themselves she draws out the nuances and radical potentials of the discipline from William Morris s ambivalence toward industry to Catharine Beecher s proto feminist household appliances to the Bauhaus s Expressionist origins and the influence of Herbert Marcuse on Joe Colombo

The Hot House Andrea Branzi, 1984 The Hot House is in part a manifesto and in part a noncanonical history of the most progressive and heretical experiments in the applied arts and design Covering two centuries of avantgarde designs but concentrating on the 1950s to the present the book looks at architecture and urban design as well as graphic interior exhibit industrial and fashion design It discusses the role that such magazines as Casabella Domus and Modo have played on this lively front and provides an insider s view of such figures and groups as Alessandro Mendini Gaetano Pesce Alychmia Global Tools Michele De Lucchi Ettore Sottsass and the design world s hot new movement Memphis It also elucidates such concepts as banal design soft design radical architecture and color cultures and relates these and other design developments to social and political issues Protagonist of many of these experiments Andrea Branzi calls for a theory and practice in which the old methods and instruments pencil square and compass are rendered obsolete and the formal commandments of modernism comfort function and style are banished If Branzi's vision of the new domestic landscape bears any relation to the future home the places we live and objects around us are on the verge of being radically transformed The Hot House dramatically expands the theoretical and operative limits of design While precedents to Il Nuovo Design The New Design can be found in everything from Art Deco to De Stijl to Pop Art to California funk Italy is the center of this new phenomenon and the hot house of its most intense activity Beginning in the 1960s there emerged a number of design studios that went by names like Archizoom 9999 Superstudio and UFO their products redefined the basic architecture of furniture and clothing and polemicized an entire discipline Andrea Branzi architect and designer has been a leading force in Italian design since the 1960s As the founder of Archizoom Associates and member of the experimental design collective Global Tools he is responsible for many of the experiments described in this book He lives and works in Milan where he is Educational Director of Domus Academy and Editorial Director of Modo

Ecological Urbanism Mohsen Mostafavi, Gareth Doherty, 2010-04-15 With the aim of projecting alternative and sustainable forms of urbanism the book asks What are the key principles of an ecological urbanism How might they be organized And what role might design and planning play in the process While climate change sustainable architecture and green technologies have become increasingly topical issues surrounding the sustainability of the city are much less developed The premise of the book is that an ecological approach is urgently needed both as a remedial device for the contemporary city and an organizing principle for new cities Ecological urbanism approaches the city without any one set of instruments and with a worldview that is fluid in scale and disciplinary approach Design provides the synthetic key to connect ecology with an urbanism that is not in contradiction with its environment The book brings together design practitioners and theorists economists engineers artists policy makers environmental scientists and public health specialists with the goal of reaching a more robust understanding of ecological urbanism and what it might be in the future Contributors include Homi Bhabha Stefano Boeri Chuck Hoberman Rem Koolhaas Sanford Kwinter Bruno Latour Nina Marie Lister Moshen Mostafavi Matthias Schuler Sissel Tolaas Charles Waldheim
