Education Policy-planning Process Wadi Haddad,1995 Fundamentals of Educational Planning ,1987 A Guide for gender equality in teacher education policy and practices UNESCO,2015-02-02 Education Sector Plans and their Implementation in Developing Countries Roy Carr-Hill,2023-03-09 This book examines the factors affecting the successful implementation of Education Sector Plans in developing countries It provides a detailed comparison that draws on data from 27 countries to offer careful research conclusions and policy recommendations Offering a detailed comparison of the schooling situation e g availability of potable water and toilets provision for the disabled as well as educational outcomes both test scores and percentages out of school from the 27 countries using empirical evidence the book examines the resources that have been invested in different education sectors investigating the development and success of each plan The volume uses correlation analysis to compare factors including the availability of government funding national characteristics ministerial decisions influences of country and donor stakeholders as well as district and school level issues Thorough comparative analysis of the data is then demonstrated with two measures of achievements to identify which factors can be considered as the most important in order to reach realistic policy and research conclusions Timely and engaging this book will be of great interest to researchers scholars and postgraduate students in the field of education and international development comparative education and international education more broadly EDUCATION FOR SUSTAINABILITY -Volume I Robert V. Farrell ,George Papagiannis,2009-10-10 Education for Sustainability is a component of Encyclopedia of Human Resources Policy Development and Management in the global Encyclopedia of Life Support Systems EOLSS which is an integrated compendium of twenty one Encyclopedias The Theme on Education for Sustainability provides the essential aspects and a myriad of issues of great relevance connection between education and more sustainable futures and embraces a reality that all need to know It demands a much broader interpretation of education a holistic perspective that accommodates new and challenging ideas Such education is imperative in creating the knowledge wisdom and vision needed for the transition to a more sustainable world In helping to design this sustainable future education for sustainability implements a vital systemic perspective that will allow for a complex interdependence of all life forms and Earth This volume is aimed at the following five major target audiences University and College Students Educators Professional Practitioners Research Personnel and Policy Analysts Managers and Decision Makers and NGOs Resources in Education ,1998

Utilisation of South African Research on Higher Education Jan Botha ,Gabriele Vilyte ,2021-10-26 The relationship between research on the one hand and policy practice on the other hand is complicated and collaboration between scholars in research on higher education RHE and institutional research IR practitioners is often lacking This book marks a collaborative effort of a diverse range of South African RHE and IR scholars and asks the overarching questions What do we know about the utilisation of South African research on higher education SARHE and its subset of research known as

Institutional Research How and by whom is this research used The book begins by looking at the historical underpinnings of SARHE and delineating the shape and size of this body of research This is followed by a series of case studies on South African Higher Education institutions and governmental bodies investigating how when and by whom are research on higher education and institutional research used in the decision making of these organisations This book is the first of its kind in South Africa and sets out to lay the groundwork for further research into the use uptake and utilisation of RHE and IR in this country

Fundamentals of Educational Planning ,2007 SADC Initiative in Education Policy Development, Planning, and Management Linda Chisholm,1998 The Past, Present, and Future of Higher Education in the Arabian Gulf Region Awad Ibrahim,Osman Z. Barnawi,2022-08-29 This edited volume contributes a novel understanding of the past present and future of higher education across the six countries that make up the Gulf Cooperation Council GCC Against the backdrop of intense political ideological and epistemological disruptions across the Arabian Gulf Region over the last two decades this volume adopts critical comparative perspectives in order to chart the history present day and future realities of higher education in Saudi Arabia the United Arab Emirates Oman Qatar Bahrain and Kuwait By focusing on dynamics relating to neoliberalism and using the notions of tensionality and locality to situate topics such as curricula policies practices the volume engages with current discourses controversies and themes such as the internationalization and marketization of higher education in these countries In doing so the book offers a theoretical framework to enable greater understanding of the contemporary functioning of higher education in the Arabian Gulf Region This text will benefit scholars academics and students in the fields of higher education and international and comparative education more broadly Those involved with educational policy and politics and Middle Eastern studies in general will also benefit from this volume

Formulating Education Policy Association for the Development of Education in Africa,1996 Functional Analysis (management Audits) of the Organization of Ministries of Education Richard Sack,Mahieddine Saïdi,1997 This booklet aims to promote a better understanding of the stakes involved and the tools and methods available for improving the management structures and processes of national education ministries

Improving School Effectiveness Jaap Scheerens,2000 This booklet reviews the research evidence that has been obtained on school effectiveness in developed and developing countries School effectiveness is difficult to define and to measure and each case is specific Whilst there is broad agreement in the qualitative reviews the quantitative studies show much uncertainty as to what is generally applicable and the author cautions against their use a blueprint for what should happen in schools

School-based Management Ibtisam Abu-Duhou,1999 This book begins with a review of decentralisation in schools highlighting the problem of how to increase school level autonomy while ensuring an orderly delivery of high quality education for a whole country that is equitable across geographic socioeconomic and cultural divisions Case studies of school based managed models in six countries are described focusing on a radical system in place in Victoria Australia Leadership is a key function in school management reform especially with respect to the delegation of financial management Training Teachers to Work in Schools Considered Difficult Jean-Louis Auduc,1998

This book outlines challenges involved in ensuring that teacher training becomes the gateway to implementation of appropriate strategies for students to achieve and for managing the problems of authority discipline and aggressive behavior The six chapters examine 1 Teaching in Schools or Classes Considered Difficult A Contemporary Challenge e g changes in school populations preparing teachers for classroom reality and developing compensatory education policies 2 Making Teachers Aware of the Characteristics of Schools Regarded as Difficult e g educating immigrants and ethnic minorities and recognizing diversity by integrating it in a shared educational environment 3 Preparing Teachers To Adapt Content and Methods to Classroom Diversity e g ensuring equal opportunities and constructing appropriate realities 4 Managing Problems of Authority Discipline Absenteeism and Aggressive Behavior e g addressing violence at school relationships with families and school absenteeism 5 Preparing for Teamwork and Internal and External Partnership for Teaching in Difficult Urban Areas e g teacher cooperation developing multiple teaching skills and methods and adapting curricula to school realities and 6 Responding to the Challenges Enabling Teachers To Succeed Restoring Meaning to School e g considering the content of training and encouraging staff to teach in urban schools Contains 70 bibliographic references SM

Reducing Repetition Thomas Owen Eisemon, Thomas Eisemon,1997 This booklet discusses strategies for reducing repetition of grades by students at primary secondary and higher education levels Large numbers of pupils repeat their grades every year and these repetition rates are considered good indicators of an educational system s effectiveness A high repetition rate indicates that a large number of pupils have not reached the level of learning achievement expected of them Causes of repetition are varied and not easily detectable and probably vary from one country to another within a country from school to school and from one educational level to another Some strategies for reducing repetition are targeted at the children and their home environment others are more closely related to the school the content and the teaching methods and still others have to do with the overall policy and system The author warns against any drastic legal type of intervention and argues in favor of combining various measures so as to arrive at a comprehensive multipronged strategy Contains 63 references DFR

Searching for Relevance Wim H. M. L. Hoppers,1996 Discusses work orientation programmes at the basic education level policy issues relating to work orientation in schools and the planning and implementation of work orientation programmes

International Journal of Educational Reform ,2002 Planning for Technical and Vocational Skills Development Kenneth King,Robert Palmer,2010 The position of skills development on the agenda of policy makers and development agencies improved markedly around the turn of the 21st century This book tracks the ways skills have gained importance both in the developing and the more industrialized world It analyses critically the multiple drivers of skills development and the linkages of skills to the knowledge economy growth and employment in an increasingly competitive world It also acknowledges the many modalities and delivery systems for skills development arguing that this institutional diversity often spread across several ministries and training authorities has made it more difficult to give a national account of the skills development sector. The re-emergence of skills has triggered many reform initiatives associated with TVSD, some of which have become almost fashions and are in danger of being adopted without sufficient evidence of their effectiveness. This work provides cautionary advice and fresh insights that planners will find rewarding.

Directions in Educational Planning

Mark Bray, N. V. Varghese, Unesco, 2011

The nature of educational planning has evolved significantly during the past few decades. For many years it generally relied on grand models focusing on macro planning. Today the field is increasingly defined by decentralized approaches, non-government funding and cross-national forces in the context of globalization. IIEP has played a lead role in contributing to conceptual issues, developing methodologies and facilitating capacity development. In 2008 the Institute organized a symposium to discuss the changing context and content of educational planning, reflecting on continuities and changes in the past and looking ahead to the future. This publication is based on selected papers presented at the symposium.
