Enzymes Biotechnology Handbook NIIR Board of Consultants & Engineers, 2004-01-01 Industrial biotechnology is the practice of using cells to generate industrially useful products An enzyme is a protein that catalyzes or speeds up a chemical reaction Enzymes are the focal point of biotechnological processes without them biotechnology as a subject would not exist The main advantage of enzymes compared to most other catalysts is their stereo region and chemo selectivity and specificity Enzymes are responsible for many essential biochemical reactions in micro organisms plants animals and human beings Biotechnology processes may have potential in energy production specifically in the substitution of renewable plant biomass for fossil feedstock This will depend on the development of enzymes able to degrade cellulose in plant biomass and designing methods to recycle or dispose of spent biomass With time research and improved protein engineering methods many enzymes have been genetically modified to be more effective at the desired temperatures pH or under other manufacturing conditions typically inhibitory to enzyme activity e.g harsh chemicals making them more suitable and efficient for industrial or home applications Enzymes are used in the extraction of natural products as catalysts in organic chemistry in clinical analysis in industrial processes and so on The application of enzymes is found in many different fields and it is one of the good sectors to
