

A man and a woman are shown in profile, facing each other in a dark, narrow hallway. The man on the left has dark hair and is wearing a dark grey or black coat over a white collared shirt. The woman on the right has blonde, wavy hair and is wearing a light-colored, possibly beige or cream, trench coat. They appear to be in a moment of quiet conversation or looking at each other. The background is dark with some vertical lines and faint light sources, suggesting an indoor setting like a hallway or a room with large windows or doors.

to add authenticity and realism to shows or as a sensationalist means of chasing ratings However the authors illustrate that the depiction of rape is more than a mere reminder that the past was a dangerous place for women and some men In these series they argue rape functions as a kind of anti heritage device that dispels the nostalgia usually associated with period television and reflects back on the current cultural moment in which the MeToo and Timesup movement have increased awareness of the prevalence of sexual abuse but in which legal and political processes have not yet caught up In doing so Rape in Period Drama Television sets out to explore the assumptions and beliefs which audiences continue to hold about rape rapists and victims The American Catholic Quarterly Review James Andrew Corcoran,Patrick John Ryan,Edmond Francis Prendergast,1921
